Ike In Paris—
Arrival Sparks Frenzied Scene

Paris (AP)—President Eisenhower toured Paris in triumph Wednesday and opened his talks with President de Gaulle amid an outpouring of excitement and affection rivaling the city's day of liberation in World War II.

Swept with emotion and choking as he spoke, Eisenhower told a vast, silent French throng:

"I can only say that over the years, this city, this country has become (to me), like it is for almost every American, something very dear."

Then he said he would attempt one sentence in French:

"Je vous aime, tous"—"I love you, all."

Thousands of people, packed tight in the great square in front of the Hotel de Ville (City Hall), yelled, cheered, waved flags and handkerchiefs in a frenzy of almost hysterical enthusiasm.

Paris is the third major European capital—Bonn and London were the others— to explode with a thrilling, spine-tingling demonstration over Eisenhower, who is consulting with his allies as the prelude to an exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

In numbers, it equalled the gigantic London outpouring. A million or more Parisians lined the streets and jammed the squares where the President appeared. In fervor, it was like the roaring, chanting scenes in Germany.

Bold Slogan

"We like Ike," said a red-white-and blue placard blazing down two floors of a great department store.

"Vive Ike," the crowds roared.

"Eek! Eek! Eek!" yelled a short, bereted Frenchman, jumping up and down to see over the heads of the crowds lining the Champs Elysees.

Between public appearances, Eisenhower and de Gaulle held their first two conferences. One was private except for the presence of two interpreters. At the second and longer meeting, Secretary of State Herter and French and American aides joined the two 68-year-old chiefs of state.

Auspicious Start

"Everything has gone very well between us," de Gaulle told the throng at the Hotel de Ville.

Eisenhower said the talks began in a "good and encouraging manner."

Diplomatic sources said they covered 4 points—a summit conference, NATO, Algeria, and Berlin.

From the French point of view, the Algerian rebellion is the thorniest topic and perhaps the one de Gaulle wants most to discuss with Eisenhower.

De Gaulle would like American support in the U.N. for whatever plan he proposes to advance for solving the Algerian nationalist rebellion that is costing France a billion dollars a year. The details are his own secret—unless he disclosed them Wednesday to Eisenhower.

The word in Paris is that he hasn't even divulged them to his own cabinet ministers.

THURSDAY SCHEDULE

8 a.m. Eisenhower breakfasts at U.S. Embassy Residence with Ambassador Amory Houghton and Secretary of State Herter.

9:30-10:30 a.m. Receives President Joseph M. Luns of the North Atlantic Council and NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak.

10:30 a.m. Confers with Italy's Premier Antonio Segni and Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pella.

1:30 p.m. Gives a luncheon for President de Gaulle at U.S. embassy residence.

Eisenhower will spend the night at Rambouillet, official summer residence of French presidents.

Times given are 7 hours ahead of CST.

1,500 See County Fair Win Parade

An enthusiastic crowd of 1,500 persons packed the Fairgrounds 4-H Arena to witness the annual dress revue and parade of purple ribbon winners at the Lancaster County 4-H Fair.

From the dress revue two girls, Peggy Kettelhut of Bennet, and Sharon Pohlman of Hickman, were selected to represent the county in the State Fair dress contest.

Miss Kettelhut won the dressup division and Miss Pohlman won the school clothes division. Alternates selected were Jane Adkisson of Lincoln and Marilyn Finke of Bennet.

A total of 304 girls participated in the dress contest.

Following the parade of purple award winners in beef and dairy divisions the grand and reserve champions in those divisions were presented.

Angus Champ

An Angus steer, shown by Leonard Ringland, Bennet, was selected as grand champion in the steer division and a Hereford, shown by Tom Schwenke, Denton, won the top honor in the heifer division.

The reserve champoin steer award was presented to Marilyn Munn of Waverly for her Hereford steer. Dennis Buel of Hickman won the reserve award in the heifer division with an Angus.

In the swine section of the show, Larry Ossenkop of Walton presented the grand champion market hog. The reserve champion was shown by Marilyn Munn of Waverly

Entertainment at the show, presided over by George Wilcox, was provided by the Bennet Polka Band, the Walton Pepperettes 4-H Club, the Sunshine Dairy Club song group, the Nifty Northeast Club singers and the Rokeby Lassies, song group.

The show was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Women's division of the Chamber of Commerce and the Lancaster County Extension Service.

Conferees' Plan Is Hailed By Mitchell

Final Product Closer To Stiffer Version Passed By House Than Senate Measure

Washington (AP) — After 12 days of haggling, Senate-House conferees Wednesday agreed on a compromise labor bill to curb union racketeering.

The final product was closer to the somewhat stiffer version the House passed than to the measure the Senate passed last spring. Leaders of organized labor had opposed both, especially the House bill.

Mitchell

The compromise immediately was taken to the Senate, where a vote was scheduled Thursday.

The conferees topped their final hurdle in late afternoon, working out an agreement on how to deal with picketing at construction sites.

In its final form, the compromise provides means that are intended to guarantee the rights of union members and to safeguard union treasuries.

Bans Secondary Boycotts

It also would ban secondary boycotts and extortion picketing, limit organizational picketing, and spell out a procedure for the states to dispose of labor disputes the National Labor Relations Board refuses to handle.

The product of the conference represented a victory for President Eisenhower who had urged many of the provisions it contains, especially bans on secondary boycotts and blackmail picketing.

There was no immediate comment from the White House, or from Eisenhower now in Paris.

But Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell issued a statement in which he said:

"I am extremely pleased that the Senate and House conferees have agreed to labor - management relations of the type the President has long requested.

"No honest trade union or employer has cause to fear this legislation. It will not be used to bust unions or harass management. It will be used only to help labor and management clean their ranks of corrupt elements."

He added: "And I intend to see that job done."

There was no immediate reaction from organized labor leaders who had bitterly fought the House bill, some of whose key provisions found their way into the compromise, although in modified form.

The AFL-CIO didn't like the Senate's original version either, but was inclined more to it than the House bill which it called a union-busting measure.

Reps. Phil Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich), co-authors of the House bill, said in a joint statement the conferees had retained the essential elements of their measure.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), a chief sponsor of the original Senate bill and a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, called the compromise "a bill I can wholeheartedly support."

He said he had not approved of some of the provisions in the House bill which the Senate conferees were forced to take. But he added he believed they had been changed enough so legitimate union rights were maintained.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), a conferee who favored the House version, said "this is a bill that the American people deserve."

Two Fail To Sign

Two of the 14 conferees did not sign the conference report. They were Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) and Rep. Carl Perkins (D-Ky). However, Perkins said he might do so later.

The bill appeared certain to pass both Senate and House with little trouble and to be signed by Eisenhower as a landmark of the 1959 session.

It is the first major labor legislation since the Taft-Hartley act was passed 12 years ago.

Bill's Main Points

Major provisions of the labor control measure are on Page 18.

Narcotics Crackdown—
Indictments Bare Nationwide Ring

Chicago (AP)—Three Chicago policemen and a former federal narcotics agent were indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday in connection with a narcotics distributing ring which the government said distributed illicit drugs from coast to coast.

The jury, which has been investigating the illegal drugs traffic for a month, also indicted 17 others. Among them are a number identified by the narcotics bureau as vendors of narcotics.

A government official said the ring grossed $75,000 every 10 days in Chicago alone.

The policemen named in two conspiracy indictments were recently transferred from the police narcotics detail. The former federal narcotics agent is Edward R. Gayles, 38, a Negro, who resigned as a Treasury agent in 1954 to practice law in Chicago.

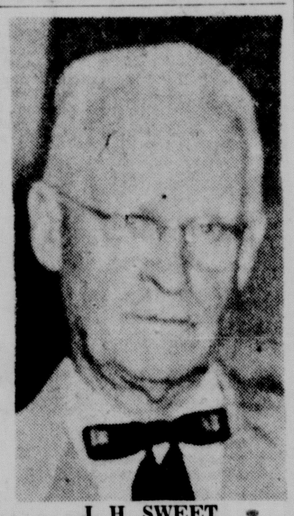
The 3 policemen surrendered to federal agents at the detective bureau. Gayles was arrested at his office by federal narcotics agents. He was taken to a U.S. marshal's office and released on $5,000 bond.

Tip-Off Men

Max H. Goldschein, special Justice Dept. prosecutor who headed the investigation said the 3 policemen gave protection to a ring, with headquarters in Chicago, which distributed narcotics in Detroit, Cleveland, Miami, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Gary, Ind.

"As part of the conspiracy, the policemen advised ring members of the plans and activities of the government agencies," Goldschein said.

George M. Belk, chief of the federal narcotics bureau here, said an investigation began in February "after routine narcotics investigations uncovered two separate conspiracies to import and sell narcotics throughout the United States."



J. H. SWEET

J. H. Sweet Honored By Press Staff

Nebraska City, Neb. — A special, peach-colored edition of the Nebraska City News-Press was printed in honor of the 50th Anniversary of Editor-Publisher J. Hyde Sweet.

The veteran newsman observed his 50th anniversary on Aug. 15, but members of the News-Press staff had planned the special edition and celebration for this week.

Sweet joined The Press, predecessor of the News-Press, on Aug. 15, 1909. He is editor and publisher of The News-Press, and manager and president of the Press Printing Co.

He got his first taste of the newspaper business in Palmyra, Neb., where at the age of 13 he worked as a printer's devil, typesetter, and janitor on the weekly paper.

In addition to his work as editor of the News-Press, Sweet has been active in civic affairs in Nebraska City. He was instrumental in forming the Chamber of Commerce, Elks and Rotary Club there.

Sweet has received more than 300 letters of congratulations since his anniversary on Aug. 15. Included is a congratulatory letter from President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

State Projects Pressed For Public Works Bill

By Don Walton

Nebraska reclamation leaders pressed a dramatic, last-ditch effort Wednesday night to salvage appropriations for 3 state projects in the wake of House of Representatives action in sustaining President Eisenhower's public works bill veto.

A new bill drafted by the House Appropriations Committee is expected to be submitted Thursday in a legislative dash to beat adjournment, likely next week.

Whether it will contain funds for Salt-Wahoo, Gering-Mitchell and the Red Willow Dam projects will depend largely on the success of Nebraskans in convincing Congress that none of the 3 is a "new start."

The administration has adopted blanket opposition to "new start" reclamation projects as an economy move.

Salt-Wahoo appeared to stand the best chance of survival.

The Associated Press reported that neither Gering-Mitchell no Red Willow would be included in the new bill. It did not say Salt-Wahoo would be dumped.

Meanwhile, a source close to Rep. Phil Weaver said that Weaver's membership on the Appropriations Committee will cause the President and the Bureau of the Budget to look favorably on planning funds for Salt-Wahoo and construction funds for Gering-Mitchell.

Further, the spokesman predicted that fiscal 1961 would be a "banner year" for the Red Willow program.

Two Fronts

The battle for funds was being waged on two fronts Wednesday—in Lincoln and Washington.

State Reclamation Assn. President Robert Crosby, Gov. Ralph Brooks and 3 members of the state's House delegation were the prime participants.

"With regard to the $90,000 appropriation for Salt-Wahoo," Crosby said, "it is our contention that this is a budgeted item and will be included in any new bill."

The $90,000, Crosby (who is secretary and consel for the Salt-Wahoo Watershed Assn.) pointed out, was contained in the President's supplemental budget.

Continuing Fight

"In regard to Gering-Mitchell and Red Willow," he said, "the State Reclamation Assn., is continuing to fight. We urge that neither is really a new start."

A temporary flood works dike constructed on Gering-Mitchell several yars ago takes that project out of the "new start" classification, Crosby contended.

Red Willow, he said, is a part of the over-all Frenchman-Cambridge program which has already been authorized.

Meanwhile, Gov. Brooks wired all members of the appropriation committee urging inclusion of all 3 projects,

Chiefs Discuss Enforcement

Fremont Police Reserves First Such Unit In State

By Gene Budig

Fremont, Neb. — The city of Fremont has introduced the first police reserve unit in Nebraska.

The unit, officially known as the Fremont Police Reserves, doubles the city's police department manpower.

And the addition of 26 men won't throw a "monkey wrench" in the city's budget plans.

The volunteers work hand in hand with the regular police force. In fact, they are receiving their instruction from Fremont lawmen.

"The formation of this reserve unit is the only possible way a city of this size can be assured of ample protection," explained Dwight Hollins, chief of the reserves.

Emergencies

"After all," Hollins said, "No smaller city can afford to hire enough policemen to handle emergencies."

The reserve unit wasn't set up on a full time basis. But it does meet every Monday night for at least two hours to study proper law enforcement procedure.

The reserves now have two months of extensive training under their belts. The complete program will last for nearly two years.

Local businessmen form the nucleus of the reserves, Hollins added.

Every Phase

"Don't underestimate this project," one volunteer said. "Our group has been studying every known phase of law enforcement." In the last two weeks the reserves has put in approximately 225 hours.

It is hoped that the reserve unit will be enlarged, but not at least for two years. Hollins said the first group will complete the entire course of study before additions are made.

Crash Kills 8 In Alaska

Fairbanks, Alaska (AP) — A twin-engined plane crashed Tuesday night in a storm, killing 6 girls on a magazine subscription tour, their crew chief and the pilot.

Dead are C. W. (Bud) Priest of Anchorage, the pilot; C. A. Bailey, 35, of Seattle; Rose Johnson, Mineapolis; Diane Nelson, Fargo, N. D.; Shirley Salazar, Hawaii; Cathy Clark, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Virginia Lee Ostrander, Seattle; and Alba McKellop, Oklahoma.

The plane was nearing McGrath, 300 miles southwest of here, when the pilot reported that he was lost in a storm and running low on fuel. That was his last report.

Searchers sighted wreckage from the air early Wednesday. A helicopter investigated and identified the wreckage.

Because of the rugged terrain, the helicopter crew had to land some distance away and walk to the site.

The group had been selling magazines in Alaska for several weeks. They had finished the tour at the Eskimo village of Kotzebue above the Arctic Circle, leaving there Tuesday morning.

The girls reportedly were in their early 20s or late teens.

Firing Sparks New Discord In Argentina

Buenos Aires (UPI) — The secretary of war fired the commander-in-chief of Argentina's army Wednesday, touching off open rebellion by high-ranking army officers. Fourteen generals who opposed the firing were reported to be arrested.

To heighten the crisis, the commander of the strategic Cordoba Garrison announced he and his officers would not recognize the "unjustified removal" of Gen. Carlos Toranzo Montero by war secretary Gen. Elbio Anaya.

Military units were heavily reinforced in the Buenos Aires area. Troops in the capital were confined to barracks, it was reported. Extra police patrols were assigned to theater and movie districts in downtown Buenos Aires to prevent mass demonstrations.

The 14 generals were reported arrested after they had taken an unusual poll to determine what other army officers thought of the dismissal of Toranzo.

Train Kills Man On Way To Job

Shelton, Neb. (AP) — Luther Smith, 86, was killed early Wednesday when he was struck by a westbound Union Pacific train at a crossing in Shelton.

Smith was enroute to work at a bank where he was custodian.

Smith had farmed in the Shelton area before moving to town in 1944.

Surviving are his widow; a son, William Smith of Shelton; two daughters, Mrs. Evald Granlund of Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. Eldon Hodge of Lexington, Neb., and a brother, Ed Smith of Grand Island.

Board Okays Sale Of 22nd & O Park

Also Agrees To Prepare Ten-Year Park Program

By Virgil Falloon

The City Park and Recreation Board recommended Wednesday the sale of the 23rd and O tract, discussed the Antelope Creek Dam-Reservoir area as a potential golf course site, and agreed to the preparation of a 10-year park program that could be laid before the voters in a bond issue.

In recommending the sale of the city-owned block on O street, the park board urged the sale at appraised value include the cost of removing the historic pillars and fence to another suitable location.

Councilman Del Tyrrell said a definite inquiry from a "potential buyer" has been received by the city and that groundwork for a possible sale is being laid.

Earlier this year, the Council had fixed a net price of $165,000 on the city block based on 3 independent appraisals.

Chairman Max Roper said both the Spanish American War Veterans and the National Institute of Architects have expressed concern for the preservation of the pillars.

He said two NIA members are prepared to supervise their placement at another suitable location if the 23rd and O property is sold.

The pillars were formerly part of the old U.S. Treasury Building in Washington, D.C., and President Abraham Lincoln stood between them to review Civil War troops.

No Location

No definite location has been selected, but discussion indicated possible sites at Woods Park at 33rd and O or the proposed Winnett Gardens at 27th and Capitol Parkway.

Cost of removing the pillars to a new location was roughly estimated at $5,000.

Sale of the 23rd and O property was authorized by the Lincoln voters with the proceeds from the sale to be used to acquire a new park land.

In this connection, the park board discussed a potential golf site near 63rd and Calvert in the proposed Antelope Dam area.

Welfare Director Emmett Junge said a 17-acre residential subdivision, Highland Meadows, is proposed at this location, which would be "ideal for a golf course."

"It would take about 80 acres for an 18-hole course," he said. Also, he added, "Approximately 200 acres between the two fingers of the lake have a recreational potential."

The City-County Planning Commission has recommended that the City Council consider acquisition of land in this area for a park.

Park Supt. James Ager said the 63rd and Calvert was an "ideal location for a golf course, whether the lake is built or not."

Problems

"As to a recreational area around the lake," Ager said, "we'll have problems with the lake."

There will be times during the year, the lake could have a 100-yard mud strip around it, he explained. Expert advice has said there is little potential for an independent water source to supplement the lake's level during dry periods.

He noted that city water probably would have to be piped to the area to even maintain a golf course. "Antelope Creek is dry except when it rains. There are no permanent springs."

In other action, the board directed Ager to prepare a 10-year park program of land acquisition and improvements that could be laid before the voters in a bond issue.

Board member William O. Dobler suggested that the overall park program should be prepared and developed with the possibility of seeking a bond issue for needed park improvements.

'Study Needed'

"We should give study to development of 33rd and O, a new golf course, an swimming pools," Dobler said. "I feel Lincoln wants these improvements and will support a bond issue, if necessary, to obtain them."

Ager said his department could prepare a preliminary study for a 10-year park program "within 30 days" for consideration by the board.

"Nationally," Ager said, "park bond issues have a better batting average than school bond issues."

Park board members present at the meeting were George Holmes, Mrs. Ralph W. Beechner, John Lawlor, Dobler and Roper.

DAG ASKS A BIGGER U.N. ROLE

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold Wednesday suggested a series of measures to give the U.N. a more useful role in the world's current diplomatic activities.

Hammarskjold offered his proposals in the introduction to his annual report, which dealt at length with the mounting volume of international negotiation outside the world organization.

This shift of emphasis has not impaired the position of the U.N., he said, but does "give a natural reason for a renewed consideration of the ways in which the United Nations functions and fulfills its purposes."

The secretary general mentioned the Big 4 foreign ministers' recent meeting on Berlin, the exchange of visits between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and President Eisenhower, the proposed disarmament talks and regional meetings such as those of the Organization of American States (OAS) and the Arab League.

While welcoming these developments as a new constructive element which may help reduce tension, he said they served at the same time to "remind us of the need continuously to test the organization and its value in the light of current requirements."

Cheng, Church Hermit, Is Going Back To School

Ann Arbor, Mich. (UPI)— Cheng Guan Lim decided Wednesday he'll go back to school.

Cheng, 28, heard from his family in Singapore, who told him they want him to continue his education.

Cheng was found last Sunday by two policemen as he crouched under the eaves in a church attic where he had been hiding since 1955.

Lim told an amazing story of deciding to hide in disgrace because he had shamed his family and friends by flunking courses in engineering at the University of Michigan here.

Tuesday the university announced that Cheng had heard from his family, that his mother was fine and she plans to come to America soon, and that the whole family approves of his staying in America to continue his education.

University of Michigan Admissions Officer Clyde Groman said he can re-enter Michigan as a junior in the College of Literature, science and the Arts.

Flames Destroy Barn On So. 54th

A large barn, owned by R. C. Trouba, at 4603 So. 54th, was completely destroyed by fire late Wednesday afternoon.

The barn, and its contents, which included a large freezer and a considerable amount of hay, was valued at $3,900, according to Fire department records.

Fireman battled the blaze for nearly an hour without being able to bring it under control. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined fire officials said.

Ivan O. Sunderman, power supply office engineer for Consumers Public Power in Lincoln, told members of the Hiram Club Wednesday that construction on the Sheldon Station at Hallam is progressing on schedule.

He showed slides to the group on the circulating water pipe, turbine mat and pedestal and the reactor core cavity liner construction, and explained the use of each.

Quinn-Seaton Public Works Split Denied

Lincoln Star Special

Washington — A published report from Washington that two Nebraskans of long-standing friendship had come to a parting of the ways over the public works bill was denied Wednesday by the principals involved.

Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton and John B. Quinn of Lincoln, public relations consultant, were reported to have split over whether President Eisenhower's veto of the public works bill should be overridden or sustained.

Seaton, as a member of the President's Cabinet, wanted the veto sustained. Quinn, a director of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, preferred it be overridden.

Asked about the reported split, Quinn commented that "old friends don't part company over disagreement on just one issue."

He said he and Seaton lunched together Wednesday and listened to reports of the House vote which sustained the President's veto by a dramatic one-vote margin.

Costliest And Longest

New York (UPI) — When completed in 6 years, the 12-lane, double decker Verazazano-Narrows (Staten Island) Bridge will be the world's most costly ($320 million) suspension bridge with the longest (4,260 feet) center span.

Nebraska Projects Urged

labelling them "critically immediate needs to the economic and social well being of Nebraska."

Brooks said none were "new starts" within the presidential definition, saying the Red Willow project is part of the Frenchman-Cambridge chain under construction since 1944, the Gering project cited as a desperately emergent measure by the Corps of Engineers and the Salt-Wahoo project, "developing throughout this decade."

Demos, Republican

Democratic Congressmen Don McGinley and Larry Brock teamed with Republican Rep. Phil Weaver in Washington to present Nebraska's arguments.

All 3 voted to override Eisenhower's veto.

Reclamation leaders earlier expressed disappointment in the House action and particularly in regard to Repulican Rep. Glenn Cunningham's vote to sustain the veto.

The action, Brooks said, is "an economic and social tragedy for Nebraska."

"We spend billions in foreign aid; at least, we could do something to further domestic projects of great economic value to Nebraska," he said.

Harry Strunk of McCook, president of the Republican Valley Conservation Assn., and Galen Lowry of Morrill president of the Gering Irrigation District, also expressed disappointment.

'Disappointment'

As for Cunningham, Crosby noted: "Speaking as a citizen of a reclamation state and one in serious need of flood control projects, I cannot conceal our disappointment in Congressman Cunningham's vote."

Brooks wired all 6 members of Nebraska's Congressional delegation, including its two senators, Wednesday morning urging votes to override.

"Past failure to advance these programs has already cost Nebraskans a sum far in excess of that which this appropriation bill provides," Brooks wrote.

The vetoed bill included $350,000 for Gering-Mitchell and $520,000 for Red Willow

—'Real Gesture Of Friendship'—

Lincolnite Certain Russian Letter Of Apology Sincere

Lincolnite John F. Zimmer Jr., one of a group of Nebraskans who recently returned from a tour of Russia, Wednesday received a letter from an amateur radio club in the Russian capital.

The air mail, special delivery letter was dated August 24 and apparently took 9 days for its Moscow-to-Lincoln trip.

Zimmer explained that the letter, written in English and by typewriter, was in answer to one he had sent the Moscow radio club before his visit, asking to meet with the group.

Apology

In "quaint" English the message was "a very sincere apology" that the Moscow radio hams had not been able to meet with Zimmer, who is also a ham operator.

"It was not a propaganda letter," Zimmer said "Propaganda letters are in perfect English. I think this was a real gesture in friendship."

The Moscow club explained that their equipment was "highly irregular" and that radio contact "by ether" was unlikely but they suggested that Zimmer correspond with them about their common interest.

Zimmer explained that his letter to the club had been received at the time he was in Moscow, but that he had not been able to meet with the group. He did meet with other Russian radio hams.

Stamps

Zimmer also netted some stamps that would make a collector jealous, he said. The Russian postage, which Zimmer estimates cost the Russian club "a small fortune," included one stamp with a dove carrying a letter. "I'm sure it isn't a dove of peace," he quipped, "They don't believe in that over there.'

Other stamps were decorated with a Russian ship and an ice skater.

The Lincolnite plans to continue the correspondence at the Russians suggestion, and is looking for a Russian-letter typewriter and "someone who can express what I mean in Russian. I am sure they are sincere and I am anxious to reply," Zimmer said.

Reds Push Into Laos

Vientiane, Laos (AP) — Communist forces sweeping into northern Laos have knocked out defense outposts and penetrated to within 12 to 18 miles of military headquarters in Sam Neua, officials said here Wednesday.

Defense secretary Phoumi Nosavan said rebel units and North Viet Nam Red regulars swarmed into the Nam Ma river valley and drove towards the interior, capturing or occupying some 80 Laos villages.

The government forces, mostly irregulars, withdrew.

Air traffic to the town of Sam Neua was suspended Wednesday. But planes were reported delivering supplies by airdrop.

"We intend to hold the town of Sam Neua at all costs," Phoumi said.

Forces Meet

Government troops were reported building up a defensive line about 12 miles from Sam Neua. That would put them roughly along the front some Communist units were reported to have reached.

The rebel strength was estimated at about 3,500.

Small groups of refugees, including some wounded, began arriving at Vientiane airport from the north.

Vientiane itself, the administrative capital some 200 miles from the front, remained outwardly calm. All government offices, including the ministry of defense and military headquarters, were closed for the Buddhist festival of the dead.

Public Works Money Bill Veto Sustained

PERFECT RECORD OF IKE IS MAINTAINED

. . . BY A SINGLE VOTE MARGIN

Washington (AP) — After frantic last-minute vote switching, the House Wednesday upheld—by a single vote—President Eisenhower's veto of a big "pork barrel" money bill.

This kept unblemished Eisenhower's record of never having had a veto overidden in his more than 6½ years in the White House. So far, he has rejected 144 bills, 7 of them this year.

The roll call vote Wednesday—announced after feverish maneuvering—was 274-138 in favor of passing the $1,216,000,000 water projects bill over the veto. This was one short of the required two-thirds majority.

Objected To 67 Projects

Eisenhower rejected the bill because it provided funds for planning and starting 67 projects he had not recommended, along with hundreds of other rivers and harbors and flood control works provided for in his budget.

The House Appropriations Committee made plans immediately to meet Thursday and draft a new bill omitting the 67 projects. Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) said he expected the revised bill to pass without difficulty Thursday or Friday.

The outcome in the House was a jolt to Democratic leaders, who had radiated confidence in advance. Since the bill contained money for projects in virtually every congressional district, these leaders counted on holding the Democrats in line while picking up support from many Republicans.

But on the final vote only 11 Republicans joined 263 Democrats in voting to override. At the same time, 6 Democrats voted with 132 Republicans to sustain the President's veto.

After the roll was called, it appeared the veto had been overturned.

Galleries Tense

But, as packed galleries watched tensely, several members changed their votes—and this did the trick.

Republican Reps. Edgar Chenoweth of Colorado, Willard Curtin of Pennsylvania and Ivor Fenton of Pennsylvania first voted to override. But then they went over to the other side and voted to sustain.

Rep. Burr Harrison (D-Va) voted first to sustain; then decided to vote to override.

Rep. A. S. Herlong (D-Fla) voted to override, but changed his vote to "present"—which did not count in the final tally.

After this switching around, Republican floor leaders—seemingly confident they had won—demanded that Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) announce the vote.

But Rayburn refused to do so immediately, ordering a recapitulation. The idea was to stall long enough so the Democratic leaders could bring in some of the absentees, if they could be found around the Capitol.

But no additional members showed up, and Rayburn announced the vote.

Interstate Bid Rejected—No Federal Funds

Congressional Action — or inaction—has caused the state to reject a $1,270,353 interstate highway project and has cast doubt on whether two others will get under way as planned.

R. L. Cochran, chief engineer, said Wednesday the low bid by the Parsons Construction Co., Inc., of Omaha, has been rejected because there are no federal funds in sight that may be used.

The firm was to build the interstate road grade on route No. 1 from 96th to 72nd streets in Omaha. Its bid was selected after the July 23 bid opening.

It is still unknown if the bids for two other interstate projects, both in Lancaster County, will be let because congressional action is not final. They are a 5.2-mile stretch between Waverly and the Cass County line and 1.1 miles west of Lincoln.

They are the only other interstate bids opened so far. Cochran said they were advertised despite early reservations abqut federal funds in hopes there would be no delay.

POLICEMAN MINDS KIDS; MOM STEALS

Truth is often stranger than fiction.

That's the opinion of a veteran officer of the Lincoln Police Dept., who tells this story:

While on duty in downtown Lincoln, he noticed two small children alone in a parked car. They were crying, so the officer decided to act as "baby-sitter."

When it came time for him to get off duty, he called and asked that a policewoman be sent to pick up the children.

But the policewoman was busy elsewhere, he was told.

She had been sent to arrest the children's mother, who was caught shoplifting in a downtown Lincoln store.

Flood Cuts Indian City In Two; 15 Dead

Bombay (AP) — Baroda City, north of Bombay, has been cut in two by a flood which has submerged the river bridge connecting the two halves.

Fifteen people were reported to have died in the floods, caused by two days of rain. Two thousand of the city's 250,000 people have lost their homes. Ten feet of water was reported in several sections of Baroda, including the university section.

Pork Supplies May Be High

Pork lelads the list of foods the U.S. Department of Agriculture expects to be plentiful in September.

Kathryn Cooley, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Nebraska, said there will be about one-eighth more pork this fall than last, with heavy volume in September.

There should be an abundance of bacon, ham and sausage for those who respond to the "better breakfast" theme which many merchants will stress in September.

Another main dish item with strong appeal is turkey. The government expects a large supply of "family size" turkeys to be marketed in September.

In addition, many fruits will be available in Nebraska: bartlett pears, table grapes, lemons and limes.

Trainmaster Named

Omaha (AP) — Appointment of R. E. Irion as trainmaster of the Union Pacific Railroad at Grand Island was announced Wednesday.

Excess Butter Is Eliminated

Washington (UPI) — The Agricultural Department which was swamped with surplus butter just a few years ago, discontinued all butter sales Wednesday because the surpluses had melted away.

The department said all its remaining stocks were committed. Government purchases of butter under the price support program may remain low for months because production of milk and butter usually is low in the fall.

Federal purchases of butter from April 1 through August were about 76,000,000 pounds compared with about 110,000,000 pounds in the same period a year ago.

A Loser For the Nation

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

By now, every Nebraskan should know what has been lost to the state with the failure of the House to override the President's veto of the $1.2 billion public works bill. More than $10 million in funds for Nebraska reclamation and flood control projects was lost with the House action.

By the thin thread of one vote, the veto has been sustained and this certainly places Rep. Glenn Cunningham in a unique position. The Omaha representative stood behind the President while Republican Rep. Phil Weaver and Democrats Larry Brock and Don McGinley stood in favor of overriding the veto. Cunningham's vote could have been enough to make the difference — to give to Nebraska these badly needed projects. How he will be able to justify his position is most difficult to see. At the same time, one can credit Weaver with a vote based, not on party lines, but on the welfare of the people of his district.

The Deciding Vote

There can be no doubt that this public works bill is an expensive piece of legislation but it hardly falls into the unnecessary spending class in which the President has placed it. As a result of his stand, the backing of the House, the flood control and irrigation measures which this bill would have provided will be held back for at least another year.

If any bill is able to still get through this session of Congress, it will have to be a watered-down version and such watering would certainly eliminate most of the Nebraska projects. And while the effort to obtain an appropriation for these funds is renewed, one or two good floods could well take a toll of life and property far in excess of what the preventive action in the bill would have cost.

Nor has the President recognized another important aspect of this situation. One of the things which has been a tremendous national problem has been the wheat and corn surplus. These flood control and irrigation measures can have a substantial influence upon this surplus. It was just a few days ago that federal reclamation officials spoke of the diversification in agriculture that would result from the construction of the Farwell irrigation and flood control project in Sherman and Howard Counties.

This is diversification which is permitted through irrigation opening up to farming people the opportunity to engage in other pursuits. It permits the development of pasture and growth of cattle farming. It allows the production of more small grains and even garden vegetables. The irrigation fits beautifully with current programs in this state for development of new agricultural markets and uses because it allows the production of almost any kind of crop.

In addition to the flood control and irrigation loss, there is the recreational loss. This, also, is important to Nebraska — particularly at this time when the state has just undertaken to do something about the development of its recreational potential.

The philosophy which resulted in the death of this measure is based on economic principles which are of highly questionable merit. There is never a time when the taxpayers do not want economy but economy does not mean merely the refusal to spend money.

Economy also means the spending of money in a wise manner. It means getting the most for every dollar spent. The public works bill definitely came within this interpretation of the word "economy." It would not seem to be very logical that we should adopt a policy of penny-pinching in the midst of the greatest period of economic prosperity this nation has ever seen. But we have done this in the case of the public works bill. The President has spoken time and again of the need to control inflation through the curtailment of government spending.

Wise-Spending Economy

But if flood control, irrigation and recreation are inflationary, so is every other program on which the government spends money. It is discouraging to see this public works bill defeated but it is hoped that the action does not kill the incentive that will now be needed to continue to pursue the goals Nebraska sought through the measure.

"What's The Idea Trying To Be Patient And Peaceable?"

On The Reopening Of School

The final days of summer are rushing by and before you know it the children will be back in school.

The graying adults envy the young people. Every fall their life is reshuffled. Every year finds them a little older, a little more mature. That is exciting in itself. Then there is always the new grade, the new set of teachers, new companions and new subjects to learn. There are no such pleasant new deals for older people. One year goes by like the past one. The future stretches out like an unchanging road.

Everyone likes to say, but few really believe, that youth dislikes school. The fact is the early days of September are a high period in the year of the young people, more exciting by far than the conventional New Years, and closer to where one lives than any other calendar observance, save Christmas.

To the older people school is a matter of heavier taxation, expanded services and the urgent need to produce more young people of specialized knowledge so that the nation can be more secure. It is an uneasy subject.

But the present does not look glum to the youngster. Never before in history has there been such varied and rich opportunity for the oncoming generation. And never before were there so few barriers to a successful and satisfactory life. If textbooks were once forbidding tomes, today they are bright keys to whatever one wishes to be.

And there is a good deal of sanity in young people. Give them the facilities. They will prepare themselves.

The age may have filled the older hearts with fear, but it has liberated the young people. It is a time when it is no longer who said it, but what was said. And what is said is valid if it is seated in precise knowledge which can be had through no other advantage than easily accessible learning. Such a realization gives even added zest to the annual reopening of school.

In Spite Of Ourselves

The influence of racing upon the people of a community cannot be conclusively determined by a recent survey of the situation but the evidence shows that there are at least a minimum of unwholesome developments from it. A check of certain retailers, loan company officials, ministers and others turns up a number of cases in which an individual or family has suffered financial hardship as a result of betting on the races.

Some of these people have gotten themselves into such a deplorable state that they will probably never pull themselves out during their lifetimes. Naturally, this will bring up the question in many people's minds as to whether horse racing should be stopped. But horse racing itself is only one part of the problem.

The whole problem is composed of all forms of gambling. Horse racing does concentrate the gambling of some people into a small period of time, thus making their problem much greater. Where they might lose $500 in a year gambling in other forms, they will lose $500 in 30 days at the races. However, there is a great deal of thought to the effect that those who would gamble at a horse race to the point where it works a definite hardship on them would find some other outlet for this pursuit if racing were not in existence.

Thus, you would not only have to stop horse racing but would have to stop all forms of gambling to protect the person who cannot afford this luxury or form of excitement. Some people simply refuse to be helped, in spite of themselves. It leaves little doubt of the fact that there is a tremendous field of operation open to the advancement of psychiatry.

Food Disposal Bills

Congress, in the closing days, has a penchant for sweeping a mass of untended legislation under the carpet, including the good as well as the bad and indifferent.

This should not happen to several pending items concerned with the disposition of agricultural surpluses.

The House has taken steps to extend Public Law 480 which provides for the sale of surplus food overseas to hungry nations, accepting the currency of the receiving nations rather than dollars. The Senate has yet to act, albeit Sen. Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, has lodged a bill in line with the intention of the House, but providing for a three year extension instead of one and raising the export ceiling to $2 billion annually in foodstuffs instead of $1 billion.

The Department of Agriculture already has authority to distribute food domestically through the food stamp plan to the extent of $1 billion a year. The Senate is considering a measure to limit this to $20 million. This is not as serious reduction as would seem because the Department of Agriculture has always been cool to the food stamp plan and actual distribution has been a relatively minor matter. The billion dollar ceiling has been meaningless.

These are important measures and deserving of more attention than Congress has yet given them. In its limited application P. L. 480 has worked wonderfully well, while the food stamp plan is capable of relieving a good deal of necessity at home.

Both are further recommended because they embody new and creative thinking in the attack on the agricultural surplus problem. It is certain that old and tried methods for managing food abundance have convincingly demonstrated their inadequacy. If America is to bring its food industry into balance it must venture into the field of new philosophy. There is enough promise in the food stamp plan and P.L. 480 to believe that they will point the way to other novel remedies.

In contrast, the past practice of paying billions simply to store up unused production is a mighty bleak and costly way to avoid resourcefulness.

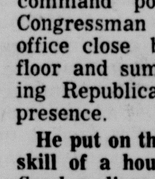
The conference between the railroad operators and the five brotherhoods over a revision of work rules has informed President Eisenhower that five months of effort has got nowhere.

We presume that was the result of the brotherhoods insisting that featherbedding was related to mattress making and therefore not eligible for discussion, to which the operators disagreed.



DREW PEARSON

Summerfield Now Crowds Mitchell

WASHINGTON—The backstage tugging and tussling over labor reform legislation has brought to a head a feud inside the President's official family betwen Secretary of Labor Jim Mitchell and Postmaster General Art Summerfield.

Long annoyed over Summerfield's obsesssion with labor matters, Mitchell finally threw up his hands in despair when the postmaster general took over the lobbying campaign to pass the Landrum-Griffin bill.

This is a labor bill which has nothing to do with the post office. It was up to Mitchell, not Summerfield, to decide how to steer it through Congress. Except for setting forth the administration's views in a letter to Congressman George Wallhauser (R. N.J.), Mitchell left the lobbying to the legislative experts from the White House and Labor Department.

But Summerfield marched up to Capitol Hill, set up a command post in Illinois Congressman Les Arends' office close by the House floor and summoned wavering Republicans into his presence.

He put on the heat with the skill of a housewife cooking Sunday dinner. On some he used threats to cut off their post office patronage. To others, he simply pleaded: "The Presidents wants this bill badly. He's depending on you. Please don't let him down!"

Among those who stuck their heads in Summerfield's pressure cooker were Congressmen Bill Cahill and Frank Osmers of New Jersey, Bob Corbett and John Saylor of Pennsylvania, Arch Ward of West Virginia, Bill Bray of Indiana and Fred Schwengel of Iowa. All voted exactly opposite to the way Summerfield instructed them.

The reason the postmaster general temporarily dropped his campaign against smutty literature to lead the fight for labor reform was to appease the Republican bosses in his home state of Michigan. He has been on the defensive with them over many Eisenhower policies, but their stand on the labor issue happily coincided.

Knowing the GOP powers in Michigan are more interested in cracking down on labor unions than cleaning up the mails, Summerfield leaped into the middle of the labor reform battle. By this he hopes to gain their support for the vice presidential nomination, a prize Mitchell also is known to covet.

But the labor secretary wishes Summerfield would campaign for the vice presidency in his own department. At a recent cabinet meeting, Mitchell offered not to interfere with the mails if Summerfield would keep his nose out of the Labor Department.

DORIS FLEESON

Ike Braces For DeGaulle Meeting

PARIS — After 5 days of total immersion in the very best British butter President Eisenhower is now sticking a tentative toe into the icy waters of General De Gaulle's France.

Everything about the general, including himself, is the exact opposite of the relaxed British. He has set himself and his people tasks which cut across what London sees as the main stream of the future.

The general wants to restore France to her ancient glory, but his excellent army is bleeding in Algeria at a cost of a billion dollars a year. He wants to be a nuclear power, but the bomb he proposes soon to explode in the Sahara is hopelessly old-fashioned. He demands greater recognition from NATO while withdrawing French forces from it and forcing NATO nuclear bombers off French soil.

The United States has abstained when the Algerian question comes to a vote in the United Nations, a position infuriating to France. The United States is halting its nuclear tests at present, and the President on this journey has stressed its commitment to NATO.

☆ ☆ ☆

Like coaches preparing the star player for the big game, both Chancellor Adenauer and Prime Minister Macmillan have urged the President to "understand" De Gaulle and seek with him a common ground. They will not be here, however, when the ball actually goes into play and the sober truth is that they would not be particularly helpful if they were.

The President's British visit, right up to his farewell, was maintained on a lofty level of tranquil optimism. The news-starved reporters were received by informed sources, but the net effect was only to show how adept the West is becoming at the talking war.

The British press is frank about how well this serves the interests of the Macmillan government. The front page of the Evening Standard discloses that soon the prime minister will notify the queen that a general election will be held in October; inside the newspaper the President is referred to as Macmillan's campaign manager.

Nor did British official spokesmen permit the threatening noises offstage to intrude upon the cozy scene. Attempts to discuss the renewed Communist aggression in Laos, India and elsewhere were blandly countered with reminders of how very difficult it is to get the real facts.

The President and prime minister, it was made clear, had said the first and last words. If they added up to a political rally for the British conservatives—as many reporters suggested — why spoil a good show?

For the traveling American the crowds remain the best and the most revealing show. They advertise anew the tremendous appeal of Eisenhower personally and the great expectations aroused by the personal diplomacy he has initiated. It's enough to make his own party ill, remembering that Article 22 of the Constitution, barring a third term, was its own handiwork.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Well-Traveled Champion

By GENE BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

McCook, Neb. — Britton, a purebred Brittany spaniel, lives anything but a dog's life.

The 5-year-old probably has covered more ground than any other dog in Nebraska with visits to Colorado, Oklahoma, Illinois, Missouri, South Dakota and even Canada.

Her master, Harlan Wyrick of McCook, estimates Britton's travels have taken her approximately 10 thousand miles.

The handsome, 35-pound bird dog has won 10 trophies and 4 ribbons in 15 major contests.

"Britton's record ranks among the best in her class throughout the country," Wyrick says.

☆ ☆ ☆

The highlight of the young dog's career came at the American Kennel Club Show at Carbondale, Ill., last November, when she placed among the leaders.

Wyrick has high hopes Britton will better her position at this year's national.

Wyrick, a science instructor at McCook Junior College, wanted a spaniel for a hunting companion, but later became interested in the show aspect.

"If you have hopes of getting rich or even breaking even, don't get into this business," he warned. The only way an owner can hope to gain a return on his investment is through stud fees and the sale of pups.

However, there is good money involved for the handlers.

"In addition to a three-month $225 training fee, the handler takes the prize money from the various shows," Wyrick said. The handler takes the dog to the contests, not the owner.

☆ ☆ ☆

Even with their great natural instinct, spaniels require special training to become top-flight bird dogs.

"You couldn't find a better hunting dog for these parts than a trained Brittany Spaniel," Mr. Wyrick claims.

But Britton's days of tramping through the gulleys of southwest Nebraska as a hunting dog are over. She has been retired from the hunting field by her master to give more time to contest preparation.

Clark Jeary

Lincoln, Neb.

In the death of Clark Jeary, Lincoln has suffered the loss of a notable and highly esteemed citizen, an unusually energetic, fertile - minded, progressive, and competent civic leader and public administrator. He will be remembered and honored by the great majority of his fellow citizens primarily for his distinguished service as mayor of the city. He was without doubt the most outstanding and effective mayor the city has known under the current modified commission form of government. His administrations marked the beginning of a new era or regime in the history of the mayor's office. After years of dawdling and drifting for lack of a unified, responsible and vigorous leadership, and the consequent accumulation of a backlog of pressing critical problems, he breathed the breath of new life and vigor and also of new ideas into the administration of city affairs. Public opinion was hungering for energetic action and the too-long-delayed solution of vitally important problems. Capitalizing on public support, Jeary assumed an administrative activity and leadership neither authorized nor prohibited by the city charter and won for his action the support of the Council required by the charter.

He dedicated himself to his job without stint. He devoted hours and days of time way beyond "the call of duty" often calling the Council in special session once or even twice a week to expedite action. The much-too-long-delayed city auditorium, 10th Street viaduct, and comprehensive revision of the city charter are merely three outstanding achievements of the many to his credit.

All honor to the man who gave so much for so little reward except the high esteem of his fellow citizens and the personal gratification and pleasure at being able to render the service to his city.

Weaver's Stand

Lincoln, Neb.

Rep. Phil Weaver was successful in entering his name once again in a Lincoln newspaper with a blast at the Democrats for their handling of the federal road program.

It is understandable that Mr. Weaver would desire to place his name before the voters in the district as much as possible between now and the 1960 elections. He is fully aware that his 1956 plurality of some 50,000 votes was cut to a mere 7,000 by Clair Callan in 1958. Mr. Weaver's obvious fears that Callan is likely to become the favorite of the voters of this district in 1960 are well-founded and no one should criticize him for attempting to better and more intelligently represent his constituents than he has in the past.

To this end, our congressman is hardly enhancing his position with the likes of his latest release wherein he deplores the additional one-cent federal gas tax (don't we all!) for continuation of the highway program and blames the Democratic leadership of the House for not "fully solving" the problem. The undersigned finds himself somewhat in agreement with Mr. Weaver on certain phases of the Democratic leadership in the present Congress. However, when faced with that other alternative of Weaverism and the resultant negative, critical approach to nearly every situation, we had best remain in our present soup!

Mr. Weaver might be asked about his solution to the highway problem. There are only three choices. First, drop the entire operation where it is and waste untold millions. Second, continue as proposed with a one-cent gas tax increase on a pay-as-you-go basis. Third, resort to some type of deficit financing and the resultant serious effect on the national debt with inflationary pressures. We doubt if Mr. Weaver is for the first alternative; he has stated opposition to the second. Can we therefore conclude that he is for the third? Or, just where does he stand?

Prairie Dogs

Beatrice, Neb.

By now the proposed complete extermination of Nebraska's prairie dogs has has probably begun. It sees a sad and short-sighted situation that in this broad state of ours we can't set aside one small area where a token population of the native Nebraskans from ages past can still exist. The few prairie dog colony exhibits in other states are a tourist magnet. You will see people of all ages finding enjoyment in watching the appealing little creatures wherever they are shown in their interesting communities or "towns."

Here in Nebraska the Game Commission has been trying to preserve the natural colony of prairie dogs at Pressey Park. It could be an important tourist attraction. Some of us may think that the Game Commission has been engaged in controversial activities, but this endeavor of the commission should be upheld and encouraged one hundred per cent, and the would-be poisoners banned at least from Pressey Park.

The government large-scale poisoning programs of insects and animals are frequently conducted without sufficient preliminary study of possible long-range effects. When we disrupt nature's balance, sooner or later we pay for it.

Surely we can spare the prairie dog colony in Pressey Park from this all-out death-dealing campaign. Our children and grandchildren will not thank us if we ruthlessly poison every last prairie dog in Nebraska. Those who agree should write to the newspapers or the Nebraska Game Commission before it is too late.

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

We would like to express our thanks for your kind remarks in your recent editorial, "Land Of Opportunity." Needless to say, the help and good wishes of Lincoln people such as you have contributed greatly to whatever success we have had. We think Lincoln is the finest place in the world to live and work — and truly "a land of opportunity."

Making Of Lakes Is To Be Studied

. . . Near Interstate

The heads of the State Game and Highway Departments agreed Wednesday to study the creation of a string of lakes along the 143 miles of Interstate Highway between Grand Island and North Platte.

M. O. Steen, director of the State Game, Forestation and Parks Department, said previous explanations of his idea have been misunderstood.

His plan is this: Considerably fill material will be needed to build the road grade for the Interstate Highway. This material, sand or gravel, has to be hauled in from someplace. Why not pump it from sandpits along the highway, making the sandpits big enough to be lakes. Since the water table is just a few feet below the surface on the Platte River flood plain, the underground water would fill the "borrow" pits making lakes. The expense of landscaping the lakes and building access roads would be paid by the game department.

He emphasized the Platte River would be left just as it is, and the highway location would not be changed.

No Connection With River

The highway is to run along the north bank of the river. The lakes, which could be on either side of the highway or both, would have no connection with the river, except that they would be fed by underground water which seeps all through the sand and gravel flood plain.

R. L. Cochran, chief engineer, said there is "a lot of merit" to the idea, but the details would have to be studied. The complicating factors would be the location of bridges on county roads, cattle underpasses, and above all the feasability of bringing in the gravel by pumping rather than by other machinery.

Steen said pumping is an inexpensive way to transport gravel (using water as the vehicle). Cochran said it takes a large amount of gravel to make pumping economical. For this reason it may be more feasable to do it around interchanges, but maybe not along the highway where pumping distances would be too great.

Steen said the state has already created a 5½-acre lake for the game commission in the Louisville recreational area by pumping gravel to a mile-long road grade.

As a rough preliminary estimate, he said the grade for a mile of the Interstate would create about 15 to 25 acres of lake.

Vets To Get Details On New Pension Bill

Veterans and their dependents on Veterans Administration pension rolls will soon receive by mail complete information on the new pension law signed by the President on Aug. 29.

A. H. Duxbury, manager of the Lincoln VA Regional office, urged VA pensioners not to write to VA about the bill. The new law, he added, does not go into effect until July 1, 1960.

Fairgrounds Dominated By Hammers And Nails

The sound of hammers banging nails into wood and the sight of workmen cleaning up the grounds dominated the scene Wednesday as preparations continued for the Saturday opening of the 90th annual Nebraska State Fair.

Trucks with machinery and materials shuttled in and out of the fairgrounds and concessionaires were busy cleaning out their rented quarters.

Action will pick up Thursday when work begins at 1 p.m. on setting up the midway of the William T. Collins Shows.

There was "action" of another sort Wednesday when 7 Lincoln teen-age boys were hustled off the grounds by deputy sheriffs after they allegedly caused trouble at the 4-H Building.

The boys reportedly had been calling the 4-Hers names and had put lighted cigarets against the noses of livestock. They were not caught in the act of molesting the animals, however, so all were released.

The 7 boys reportedly had come to the Fairgrounds to find work.

The Fair, which opens Saturday, will run through Sept. 12. Gates open at 6 a.m. Saturday.

This Will Be The Midway

It may not look like much now, but Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz knows as he gazes down a 1,500-foot stretch of land at the Fairgrounds that by Saturday morning the area will be transformed into the carnival midway of the William T. Collins Shows and will be one of the most popular attractions at the Fair. (Star Staff Photo)

'Concentration' Plea For Omaha Made By Ostler

Omaha (AP) — Police Chief Harold Ostler called Wednesday for a "concentration" of men to work on recent violence in the West Omaha area.

His action came after the apparent solving of a series of rapes in the Omaha area.

Ostler said detectives will work on a solution to the beating last Thursday of a West Omaha woman, a report of a Tuesday Night assault on a man and a holdup west of the city.

In addition, the chief said, a pair of detectives will be assigned to work full-time on the murder of James Howard Calloway, 51, in the near north side a week ago.

Deputy Attorney Applicants To Get Mayor's Review

Several applicants for the vacant post of deputy city attorney will be considered next week by Mayor Pat Boyles and City Atty. Ralph Nelson.

Nelson said the names would be submitted to Mayor Boyles when he returns from vacation next Tuesday.

The resignation of Norma Vermaas as Deputy City Attorney to accept a position with the National Bank of Commerce's trust department became effective Monday.

House Gets Bill To Hike Gas Tax

Washington (AP) — A proposed penny increase in the federal gasoline tax went to the House Wednesday.

Rules Committee clearance of the bill put it up for House debate Thursday with passage expected quickly.

Vets Hospital Surgery, Lab, Pharmacy Undergoing Work

Modernization and expansion of the Veterans Hospital surgical - laboratory - pharmacy facilities are underway with completion date set for mid-September, 1960.

The addition to the east of the main hospital building being built by Korshoj Co. of Blair carries a price tag of three-quarters of a million dollars.

An additional $50,000 is allocated for new equipment in the expanded hospital laboratories and surgical suite.

The enlarged surgery unit will feature air-conditioning for the first time, an additional operating room — bringing the number to 4—and a post-operative recovery room.

Dr. Schuyler Brown, hospital surgery chief, noted that the expanded quarters will not mean an increase in the surgical program but will provide more adequate quarters for present needs.

First floor laboratory space will be increased 50% by the building and shifting of offices, and ground floor quarters for the pharmacy and morgue will also be enlarged and modernized.

The construction work will cause "little if any disturbance" in the routine of the 280-bed hospital according to Maynard Nichols, VA resident engineer in charge of the construction.

Other future modernization projects being considered for the Lincoln VA hospital include construction of an additional ambulance drive to the southeast and renovation and enlarging of patient's rooms.

Former 'Robin Hood' Returns Home From Prison

Ellenville, N.Y. (UPI) — Former banker William (Uncle Bill) Rose, whose "Robin Hood" lending policies once plunged this Catskill mountain community into a financial crisis, returned home from prison Wednesday.

The only person waiting to welcome him was his 86-year-old mother. She had been sitting patiently in a rocker on the porch of the big white house atop a knoll.

The portly Rose, 53, had been at the forefront in civic affairs in this village of 4,500. He had made about $30,000 a year as president of the Home National Bank which his grandfather founded. Then he was charged with misapplying $1,195,000 in funds and the bank collapsed.

Rose came home to take a job as a salesman in the Rose and Douglas hardware store, which adjoins the bank. He probably will get about $70 a week as a salesman.

Rose, a bachelor, was driven home by an employe of the hardware store after serving less than two years of a five-year term at the Federal Correctional Institution in Danbury, Conn.

There was no welcoming committee and no curious spectators as Rose's car turned into the driveway. Guy Davenport, former stockholder in the bank and a onetime close friend of Rose, lives in a house across the street.

Rose jumped out of the car when it stopped at the garage behind the house and dashed in a rear door to avoid two newsmen.

Rose will live in the house, as he did when he was bank president, with his mother and his sister, Eleanor Rose.

Rose's bank once did 70 per cent of the area's commercial business. His liberality with loans was so well known that "if you need money, see Uncle Bill" became a byword.

Frontier Loading Rise Forecast

Higher passenger loadings in towns served by Frontier Airlines were predicted Wednesday by Jack Obbink, state aeronautics director, on the basis of the new schedule which went into effect Sept. 1.

He said the department is now checking to see if the announced schedule is actually being carried out. The department will then take a stand in its continuing hassle with Frontier on the basis of the findings.

Frontier was scheduled to drop Scottsbluff from Convair service and substitute instead a DC3 connecting flight. The City of Scottsbluff has protested to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Obbink said the latest passenger figures from Frontier showed that 552 passengers boarded Frontier planes in Scottsbluff in July, making it the largest traffic producer outside Omaha and Lincoln. He backed up the city's contention that the Convair flight should continue to serve Scottsbluff.

For other cities, the July traffic count showed an increase for most towns during June. The main reason, Obbink said, was the additional flight on the northern route.

The airline has flown an Omaha-Casper flight daily, but an Omaha-Valentine flight was added in July. The cities it served showed increases in passengers enplaned.

As of Sept. 1, the airline is to fly two complete round trips daily on the northern route, he said, and the number of passengers enplaned is expected to increase additionally.

"It's in the hands of the cities now," he said, "even though the state's traffic stimulation program is beginning to be felt."

The cities must maintain averages of five passengers daily enplaned during a test period after inauguration of full service, Obbink said, to fulfill the CAB's use-it or lose-it requirements of the seven-states case. It is still a matter of interpretation on when the full service began, he said.

However, the figures prepared by John Clark Coe, Frontier's director of economic controls, show a general increase.

Monitors Demand That Hoffa Suspend 3 Teamster Chiefs

Washington (UPI)—A court-appointed board of monitors has demanded that teamsters President James R. Hoffa suspend Joey Glimco and two other presidents of union locals on grounds that they are corrupt.

The formal recommendation called for the ouster of Glimco, president of Local 777 in Chicago; Harold Gross, president of Local 320 in Miami, and Anthony Provenzano, president of Local 560 in Hoboken, N.J.

The 3-man board based its action on evidence aired before the Senate Rackets Committee.

Audit Proposed

The court-appointed monitors said charges should be brought against all 3 and their books should be audited by an independent auditing firm. They also said a union "trustee" should be appointed over Glimco's local.

They asked Hoffa to announce within 5 days what steps he has taken to put the recommendations into effect.

The monitors cited Rackets Committee testimony which they said showed that Glimco spent $124,000 of Local 777 funds to defend himself in a 1954 criminal trial; took $2,500 a month in kick-backs from local officers between 1939 and 1951, and used extortion on Chicago merchants in the form of "protection payments."

"Excessive Expenses"

The board also said Glimco failed to keep complete and accurate records; spent $1,045 on a non-union trip and incurred other "excessive expenses" at union cost.

It said that on one trip Glimco took his secretary, registered her as his wife, and charged the union for "entertainment expense."

The board cited rackets committee testimony on Gross which it said showed he accepted $98,000 from the Neo-Gravure Printing Co., Weehawken, N.J., as salary from 1946 through 1958 so the firm could "avoid labor trouble and harassment." Part of the payments were made while he was president of the Miami local, the board said.

It noted that Gross gets $3,000-a-month from his local although it has only 32 members.

The monitors accused Provenzano of demanding money from employers who had contracts with the teamsters "in return for a guarantee of labor peace."

Chances Improve For Adjournment Sept. 12

Washington (AP)—Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas was reported getting generally favorable response to a proposal that the Senate meet Saturday and Labor Day, next Monday, in a drive for Sept. 12 adjournment.

In polling senators on this question, Johnson was understood to have notified Southern opponents that he intends to bring up the civil rights issue in some form next week.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has predicted Senate passage, without lengthy debate, of what he called a skeletonized bill.

Johnson also was seeking assurances that the Senate will pass without amendment a bill to abolish the present 3¼% interest rate ceiling on Government "E" and "H" Savings Bonds.

Rayburn Agrees

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said an effort will be made to pass such a bill in the House, where this type of legislation originates. He said the success of any such move depended on the Senate's action.

The House plans a session on Labor Day, but none this Saturday.

With House passage scheduled Thursday of a bill increasing the federal gasoline tax to keep the interstate highway program going, Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) said he will ask the Senate Finance Committee to act on the measure Friday.

Johnson's proposal for unusual Saturday and Labor Day meetings came at a time when the Senate was considering, for the seventh working day, the Lake Michigan water diversion bill.

Debate on this measure, of interest to relatively few members, has consumed more time than many major legislative proposals.

Johnson's effort to end the session Sept. 12 also would be calculated to wash out the controversy over whether Soviet Premier Khrushchev should be invited to address Congress, since he will not arrive in this country until 3 days after that date.

Kids Play With Isotope Vessel; Probably Unhurt

London (AP) — A container loaded with a lethal radioactive isotope was recovered by police after 5 children used it for an afternoon as a toy.

The 25-pound container fell off a truck. In suburban Wealdstone, Mrs. Lily Lawrence spotted it in a street, thought it was a piece of scrap metal which might be sold to a junk dealer, and took it home.

The container looked a little like a dumbbell with square ends. Mrs. Lawrence's children, Marion, 13, and Billy, 8, used it for weight-lifting exercises.

Three neighbor children came over and tried their muscles too.

Mrs. Lawrence heard a radio broadcast reporting the loss. Horrified, she called police.

The container's sheath was unbroken, and experts said the kids probably were safe.

Nebraskan Promoted To CSS Position

Hubert E. Dyke of Parks, Neb., was named an assistant deputy administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service Tuesday by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Dyke

Dyke will assist in the administration of crop adjustment and price support programs. He has been in Washington, D.C. since 1955 as northwest area director for the CSS.

Dyke formerly was a member of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. He has been associated with the operation of the USDA program in various positions since 1937. In 1958 he received an outstanding service award as area director.

Dyke owns a farm near Parks in Dundy County.

County 4-H Stock Auction Thursday

The annual County 4-H Club livestock sale will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. in the North 4-H barn at the State Fairgrounds.

For the first time, animals purchased will be delivered free to any processing or locker plant in the county.

Allen Boettcher of the County Agent's office said that 65 beef animals, 30 fat lambs and 30 top quality swine will be sold by Auctioneer Herb Forke.

Scottsbluff Trailer Firm Starts Work Thursday

Scottsbluff, Neb. (AP) — The first mobile home will roll off the assembly line of the Maglolia Mobile Homes Corp. day.

Only 6 homes are currently being built. The plant is not slated for full production until the steel strike is settled. With full production the new firm will employ over 100 men.

The company was brought to Scottsbluff by the Scottsbluff Industrial Corp.

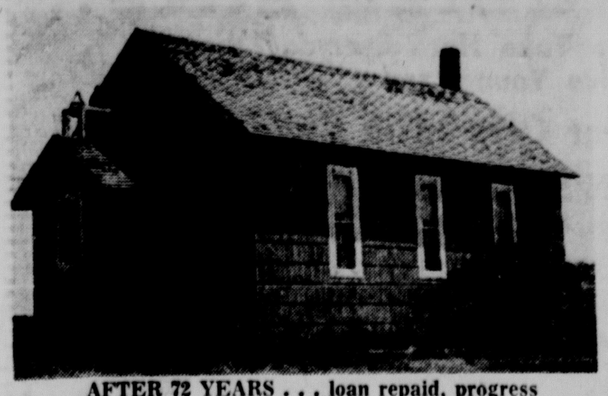
Acre Loaned To School Returns After 72 Years



AFTER 72 YEARS . . . loan repaid, progress

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Waverly—An acre of land which was loaned out 72 years ago has been returned, but Frank Jacoby isn't sure whether to be happy about it.

Taking the land back into the family means that old District 62 will be closed for the first school year in three-quarters of a century, and a lot of sentiment can be built up in that many years.

The rural school 4½ miles south of Waverly was started in 1887 when Frank's grandfather, Samuel R. Jacoby, gave the district the needed land. The only stipulation was that the site would go back to the family the first year the school was ever closed—and that is 1959.

Automatic

Patrons of the district recently decided to join the Waverly school, so the land automatically went back.

"In fact it was put on the tax rolls 10 days after the redistricting," said Jacoby.

Like many other Nebraska schools which will be closed this year for the first time, District 62 has given way to consolidation somewhat begrudgingly.

"A school is as good as its teachers, and we've always had good ones, "Jacoby explained. "You can't beat the personal attention a student gets in a country school."

He pointed out that there were only 11 students last year, and that for 19 years the school was fortunate to have Mrs. Hope Austin as its teacher. Mrs. Paul Jillson, who taught the past two years, was also very able, he added.

Still, Jacoby joined most of the other farmers in the district in signing the petition which abolished "Old Jacoby School." Some of the signers were members of 3 generations who had attended the school.

Looking at the situation a bit differently is Mrs. Jacoby, who is a teacher herself at Lincoln Northeast and not a native of the district.

"I think it will be better for the two boys," she commented. "I look at it as progress."

Patrol Shift Over Labor Day Hiked To 16 Hours

The ten hour shifts of state troopers were ordered increased Wednesday to 16 hours over the Labor Day holiday in the latest effort to curb fatalities in Nebraska, Gov. Brooks said.

In addition, Brooks said, planes will be stationed at Scottsbluff, North Platte, Lincoln and Omaha to assist in spotting traffic violators.

Two National Guard helicopters will be stationed in Omaha and in Lincoln to assist in guiding traffic flow and in spotting traffic violators, Brooks said.

State Patrol Chief Col. C. J. Sanders will man one of the helicopters himself to issue orders by radio to cruising patrolmen.

24-Hour Radio Coverage

Twenty-four hour state-wide radio coverage will be provided over the weekend to ensure rapid communication, the governor said. Presently there is 8 hour coverage at all stations except Lincoln where 24 hour coverage is provided.

The governor said every available man, regardless of regular patrol assignment, will be pressed into cruiser service commencing with a dawn patrol at 5 a.m. Saturday morning.

The governor said everything possible will be done to prevent death on the highways but "the final choice is up to the Nebraska motorists."

Increasing the shifts to 16 hours, the governor said, will add the equivalent of 96 additional men to patrol the highway.

The governor said the 10 hour shift of 160 cruising patrolmen was voluntarily increased by the Patrol.

Instead of 1,600 hours of patrol activity a day, the longer shifts will provide 2,560 hours of patrol activity in a day.

"Let us remember that while all of the precautions prescribed may help, in the last analysis, safety is an individual responsibility. When a man is killed, nobody arrest him. There is nothing that either the law or friends can do. This is what I mean by individual responsibility. Safety is up to you. Drive death away on Labor Day," governor said.

Safety Committee To Meet Nov. 19

Governor Brooks said plans are progressing for the central Nebraska regoinal meeting in Hastings Nov. 19 of the Governors Traffic Safety Committee.

The governor said he named James L. Paxton Jr., C. F. Moulton, Robert M. Feinberg, George Nothhelfer, William Miskell, Dr. Francis Hurst, George Miller, L. G. Barnes, Stuart Gottlieb, Mrs. Derrill M. Daniel, Mrs. Frank Olson and Rear Admiral Harold T. Deuterman, all of Omaha, as additional members to his traffic safety committee.

The governor said he also will make a series of traffic films and radio tapes broadcasting traffic safety messages.

Jet Forced To Shed Wing Tanks

A T-33 Air Force Jet trainer en route from Lincoln Air Force Base to Selfridge Air Force Base, Mich., was forced to drop two non-functioning external wing fuel tanks in the Platte River west of Gretna.

Captain Neal R. McCauley of San Francisco, Calif., pilot of the aircraft, discovered the tanks would not feed the fuel properly shortly after takeoff from LAFB. He climbed to 23,000 feet in an attempt to get the fuel to feed.

When this failed, Capt. McCauley radioed the LAFB Ground Control Approach, and was instructed to descend to 6,000 feet and release the tanks in the Platte River near Gretna.

The aircraft immediately returned to LAFB, officials there said.

Stanton Delaplane's POSTCARD

The waiter at the Hotel Crillon brings my morning breakfast. We look out French windows into a four-square courtyard. It is very intimate because everybody else is having breakfast in their pajamas, too.

The mail comes with the coffe (The coffee is black as Darkest Africa and must be toned down with hot milk. The heat makes the milk curdle. And you must use the greatest care not to let this part slip into your coffee. I use a knife blade on the lip of the pitcher but even so—.)

☆ ☆ ☆

What I am getting at is Darkest Africa. Nothing is more chic these days than to go down and shoot an elephant or a lion. Or maybe your White Hunter.

"Actor William Holden and Oilman Ray Ryan have asked me to honor you with a charter membership in their Mount Kenya Safari Club of Nanyuki, Kenya, British East Africa."

THAT is the kind of mail I get. You cannot beat that kind of mail for making you feel prosperous on a sunny Paris morning.

The letter is written on a sort of ragged, elegant papyrus. It is embossed with two gold elephants and a mountain and the name of the club.

It is signed by Joe Glaston who, I think, is a press agent for Ray Ryan.

Mr. Ryan has a jillion dollars from oil. He loves gambling and the out-of-doors.

When Mr. Ryan is in Reno, he rides over to Lake Tahoe with Bernie Einstoss, the gamboleer. On the seat between them, each person puts a little stack of $100 bills.

If a deer jumps up on Mr. Ryan's side, he takes one of Mr. Einstoss' bills. If it jumps up on Bernie's side, HE gets one of the Ryan skins.

About the club. Mr. Holden is president. Mr. Ryan is vice president.

"Your fellow charter members," says Mr. Glaston's letter, "include Sir Winston Churchill, Clark Gable, Walt Disney, John Wayne, William Randolph Hearst Jr., Lily Pons, Senator Lyndon Johnson, Senator Everett M. Dirksen, Representative John McCormick, U.S. Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest, Conrad Hilton, Donald Campbell and Rear Admiral John Ford U.S.N.R."

As you can see, this is not just like belonging to the Book-of-the-Month Club. I don't know what my membership will require. But I am willing to go all the way.

I suppose I will have to shoot SOMETHING. All African big game people shoot things. Usually lions. The lions deserve shooting, however. Because they were picking on the natives.

Or else we shoot rogue elephants. A rouge elephant is an elephant who carries a switchblade and has done a little time for car clouting.

Anyway, the natives are grateful as all get out and hold a gorgeous native ceremony.

☆ ☆ ☆

Fortunately I ran into a very good letter in the Daily Telegraph in London. In the letters to the editor column.

Mr. Peter Simple compains that a fellow traveler tossed a box lunch out of his car in Africa. The box lunch was prepared by the British Transport Commission — the same lunch served by the caterers on British railway trains.

"This box lunch was devoured by a passing rhino," said Mr. Simple, "and I regret to state the rhino immediately died."

Mr. Simple thinks it is all right for the British Transport Commission to serve these lunches to hardy travelers. But instructions should be printed on the box NOT to feed the contents to African wild life.

☆ ☆ ☆

This gives me quite an idea how I can qualify for the Mount Kenya club without using firearms.

I think one of those wayside lunches you get, say around on Highway 30 in Iowa, would fetch a rhino. I would bet it would down an elephant. It nearly got me. And I have an iron digestion. I think it was that orange-bottled salad dressing. Or maybe that add-water-and-serve gravy.

Anyway, it is an honor to be among such honorable charter members. And I want to assure them I will bring only the BEST box lunch. The most lethal box lunch.

"Hand me a professional football game hot dog, gun bearer. I think he's about to charge."

Dieters Warned Of Gimmicks

Washington (UPI)—Health Secretary Arthur S. Flemming said Wednesday that overweight Americans are "endangering their health" and being fleeced of millions of dollars yearly by resorting to fake died aids and slimming devices.

Flemming called a special news conference to warn the public against pills, potions, freak diets, vibrators, and other gadgets being billed as weight reducers.

Whatever claims may be made, he said, science has yet to come up with a "simple, safe and sane food, drug or device" that will, in itself slenderize a user.

"There is no such article," he said.

The only real way to lose weight, he made clear, is to eat less and exercise more.

George P. Larrick, director of the Food and Drug Administration told the news conference his agency is investigating all products that claim weight reducing miracles.

Farmer Fed Up—Plans Drag Strip

Cloquet, Minn. (AP) — A dairy farmer said Wednesday he's had enough of agriculture controls and is turning his farm into a hot-rod drag strip.

Ernest Luomala said he is using about 80 acres of his best land for the strip.

"I'm tired of government controls, milk marketing regulations, Secretary Benson and the whole works," said Luomala.

Luomala said the drag strip will be located "smack dab" in the middle of his 140 acre farm. He is selling his 37-head dairy herd and farm equipment to raise about $20,000 needed for blacktopping.

NY To Host Khrushchev

New York (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev will be the guest of the city of New York at an official luncheon on Sept. 17, it was announced Wednesday.

It was not disclosed immediately whether he will be greeted by New York's traditional ticker tape parade. Such a parade usually is a part of the city's welcome to visiting foreign dignitaries.

The luncheon, to be held in the starlight roof of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, is scheduled for the first day of the visiting Soviet leader's two-day visit to New York.

FEDERAL AIR FUND GRANTS EXPECTED NOV. 1

The federal Aviation Agency is expected to make its first announcement on federal airport fund grants about Nov. 1, Jack D. Obbink, state aeronautics director, said Wednesday.

The department has forwarded its recommendations on applications to the FAA. The requests from Nebraska cities for fiscal year 1960 total $2,375,500 federal funds, and for fiscal year 1961 they total $907,000.

The FAA will probably announce the 1960 grants about Nov. 1, and the 1961 grants about Jan. 1, Obbink said.

The Nebraska cities are to match the federal funds with a proposed $211,750 in state funds and $3,035,750 in local funds.

Two Points of View. Both your favorite Sports Editors, Don Bryant and Dick Becker are "Tops" at sports writing. They both write columns in The Sunday Journal and Star.

Rezoning Hearing Scheduled Sept. 23

Commercial zoning requested for 4 lots at the southwest corner of 56th and Stockwell has been set for hearing Sept. 23 before the City-County Planning Commission.

The applicants, Mr. and Mrs. G. Everett Marsh of 1820 A, propose the tract for a future neighborhood business site.

Red China Hit By Tito Press

Belgrade (AP) — Yugoslavia took India's side Wednesday in the conflict with Red China, and accused the Communist Chinese of aggression.

The newspaper Politika, which speaks for President Tito's independent Communist government, said Red China is fully responsible for the border conflict and praised Prime Minister Nehru for his "cool-bloodedness."

Dinner Is Back-To-School Party

Summer and vacation soon will be over for the school crowd, and we aren't sure whether the party for which Ransom Stovall was host on Wednesday evening was given as a reluctant farewell to summer—or to celebrate the approaching opening of school. Which ever theory might be the right one doesn't matter. The fact remains that the fun affair began with a 7 o'clock dinner at the University Club, and following dinner the group went on to the Lincoln Country Club for an evening of swimming. The guests included nine boys, all juniors at Southeast High School, and their dates.

BSP Chapter

Members of Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Tuesday evening at the club rooms. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Thelma Hiner spoke to the group on the topic, "Beauty And Your Figure".

Meeting Cancelled

The meeting of the Jane Jefferson Democratic Women's Club, planned for Thursday afternoon, has been cancelled. The next meeting of the club will be announced at a later date.

Square Dance

Another in the series of square dances sponsored by the Lincoln Council of Folk and Square Dance Club will be held Saturday evening at the Antelope Park pavilion.

Dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock and guests are welcome. Hosts and hostesses for the evening will be the members of the Promenaders Club.

Town And Campus--Both Busy

—News of the college freshmen set is nil these days. At the moment they are in the throes of you-know-what down on sorority and fraternity row, and we hear that things are going acccording to schedule which means everyone is in a state of confusion.

But while the college crowd occupies itself with rush week, town circles are not idling away their time. This morning, for instance, we learned that as of yesterday the young Sam Van Pelts have a new address, 3313 So. 28th St.—That their are guests to mention—some who have just arrived—others who have gone—parties—and so on and such.

* * *

—On the guest list since Sunday have been Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Ogden who are the house gests of Dr. Ogden's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Teal Ogden, and his grandfather, Dr. Frederick Teal.

stopped off in route to San Francisco from London, England, where Dr. Ogden spent the past two years in study. He will take his residency in surgery at the University of California hospital in San Francisco.

* * *

—And leaving for their home in San Francisco on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Frank and their two children, Sarah and Bill, who have been the house guests of Mrs. Frank's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gates Minnick.

* * *

—Also leaving on Wednesday—but in the opposite direction were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Wolf, their daughter, Carol, and son Bill, who have returned to their home in Babylon, N.Y., after a nine days stay in Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Wolf and their family were the house guests of Mr. Wolf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wolf, and his siter, Miss Maxine Wolf, and were present at a family dinner on Tuesday evening, Sept. 1, in celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wolf's fiftieth wedding anniversary.

* * *

—Mention of Mr. and Mrs. Minnick a moment ago reminds us that they are to be a Labor Day party host and hostess when they entertain at the Alfred Du Teau farm. Thirty couples have been invited.

* * *

—But just how we learned that the week end is not to be without at least one bright spot — the Revelers Dancing Club party. We were told that the affair is a bonus dinner dance which will be combined with a business meeting, and maybe you have guessed that the important business will involve the election of new officers—and new members.

* * *

—Delta Gamma and Phi Kappa Psi circles will be interested in news from Denver, Colo., and it has to do with the arrival of Miss Leigh Katherine Phipps at General Rose Memorial Hospital on Monday, Aug. 31. The young Miss Phipps is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Phipps, and her mother is the former Paula Withey of Omaha, Delta Gamma at Nebraska. Mr. and Mr. Earl D. Phipps of Lincoln are the paternal grandparents, and another ardent admirer is Miss Leigh's brother, David Neil Phipps.

* * *

—It's welcome home time for some of our summer vacationists—Returning to Lincoln on Tuesday evening was Mrs. J. John Grainger who spent the summer at the Grainger summer home at Troutdale Estates, Evergreen, Colo.

* * *

—Home again, too, are Mrs. Fritz Teal and her daughter, Mrs. Ron Green (Gretchen Teal) who returned a day or two ago from Pelican Lake, Minn. Mrs. Green, by the way, was a counselor at Camp Lake Hubert, Minn., this summer, and joined her mother at Pelican for a week's holiday at the close of camp.

* * *

—And back in town are Dr. and Mrs. Jon Williams and their children, John, Jan and Dwight, who devoted a 10 day vacation to Sun Valley.

Candlelight Service

MRS. RUBEN LIPPE

At a candlelight ceremony solemnized Sunday evening, Aug. 30, Miss Janet Ruth Kirchhoff of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kirchhoff of Byron, became the bride of Ruben Lippe, son of Mrs. Otto Lippe of Clifton, Tex. White roses and gladioli appointed the altar of St. Peter's Lutheran Church at Byron for the 6:30 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. Adolph Lillich.

Frocked in aqua nylon chiffon sashed with satin and wearing pearl circlets veiled with frock-toned illusion were Miss Elaine Kirchhoff, Byron, who was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Maureen Schlueter, Hardy, and Miss Edna Lippe, Norman, Okla., sister of the bridegroom. They carried cascades of white roses. Miss Cathy Schwartz, Lincoln, and Miss Melva Reinke, Byron, were the flower girls, and the ringbearer was Martin Grelle, Clifton, Tex.

George Lippe of Clifton, Tex., served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Eldon Kirchhoff, brother of the bride, and Dick Grupe, Byron; Willis Kettelhut, Hebron; and Willis Gaas, Wetmore, Tex.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white Alencon lace and tulle. A scalloped bateau neckline, dotted with pearls and sequins, highlighted the long-sleeved bodice of lace were repeated in the trim of the full tulle skirt which flared to floor length.

SUBURBIA

EASTBOROUGH

Returning home Monday from a two-week vacation were Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Stetson and their children, Patricia and Corky.

The Stetson family visited in Crawford at the home of Mr. Stetson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Stetson, and in DeBois, Wyo., with Mr. Stetson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mosher.

Seems safe to say that Mr. and Mrs. Vern Willer had an "entertaining" time last week end. On Friday, the Willers had as their guests for an informal canape party, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Seipker and John Adair, and Saturday evening Mr. Adair and Miss Rose Marie Steffan were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willer at a barbecue supper.

Putting in his premier appearance at Lincoln General Hospital on Monday, Aug. 21, was Thomas Michael Rust, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rust. Anxiously awaiting the arrival home of their new brother are Jim and Andrew Rust.

Included among Thomas's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rust of Carroll, Ia and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Smith of Wood River. Incidentally, Mrs. Smith presently is in Eastborough for an extended visit.

Turning to news from our birthday book we learn that Cindy Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reg Davies, celebrated her sixth birthday on Wednesday, Sept. 2. In honor of the occasion Cindy entertained six guests at a swimming party from 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Another recent anniversary celebrant was Barbie Haith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Haith. Barbie was hostess to seven guests at a patio supper at her home on Tuesday, Aug. 18, when she was 10 years old.

Later in the evening family members gathered at the Haith home to honor Barbie.

Courtesy Honors Bride-Elect

Honored at a pre-nuptial courtesy on Wednesday evening was Miss Carol Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Moore, who has chosen Oct. 24 as the date for her marriage to Frank Rosenlof.

Entertaining for the bride-elect were Mrs. J. E. Alexander and Mrs. Francis Parish who were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the Parish home.

Pictured during the evening were (from the left), Mrs. W. D. Matson, Mrs. J. Alexander, Mrs. Carl Kopnies, Miss Moore, Mrs. C. V. Moore, Mrs. Robert Thompson and Mrs. Francis Parish.

Dear Abby . . .

Don't Take Chances

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every morning when I take my garbage out, I find my trashcan filled to the brim with empty beer cans. This burns me up!

Someone in this neighborhood (and I'm pretty sure I know who the guilty party is) drinks about a case of beer a night. She is ashamed to have her garbage man see them, so she puts the empties in my trash can.

Should I have it out with this neighbor, or should I haul the empties back to her trashcan?

NO BEER DRINKER

DEAR NO: Don't take any chances. You might haul the "empties" to the wrong neighbor. Talk to the party you suspect and bring the matter to a head.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: How does a 24-year-old married woman, who is the mother of two children, deal with a mother who is the world's champion nagger?

I love my mother, but her nagging will drive me out of my mind. When she is at my house (or even if I'm at her's) and we do a little something together in the kitchen, she will say, "PUT AN APRON ON!"

I could be only putting Jello in the refrigerator, but she yells, "PUT AN APRON ON!"

Now, if I am old enough to be married and have children, I don't need to be told to put an apron on. If I spot my dress, it's my dress, isn't it? How can I get her to stop nagging at me?

NAGGED

DEAR NAGGED: By this time you should know how irritated your mother becomes when she sees you in the kitchen without an apron. You're a big girl now. Simply put an apron on and don't make a federal case out of it. You may avoid a spot and a spat as well.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married in October. I am experienced. He is not. Should I tell him?

DEBATING

DEAR DEBATING: I vote no. If you are experienced, and he is not, there will probably be no questions asked.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a truck driver. He drives all over the U.S., Canada and Alaska. He makes good money and sends it home regularly, but the responsibility of raising our children (3, 5 and 7) is left entirely to me. We have a nice home, a car and all the extras, but he comes home on the average of once every two months for four or five days. He can get a job where he'll be be home every night but the pay isn't so good. Should he take a job with less pay and stay home or not?

LONESOME

DEAR LONESOME: Time is more precious than money. You can't replace the years you've spent apart with things money can buy. Children need both parents. Talk it over when he comes home and see how he feels about it.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Shower Honoree On Wednesday

Mrs. Rex Miller was honored on Wednesday evening at a baby shower and dessert supper. Mr. and Mrs. Miller's new five-month-old son, Howard, arrived at the Miller home on Friday, Aug. 21.

Hostesses for the 8 o'clock affair were Mrs. T. E. Hanneman, Mrs. Delmar Watermeier and Mrs. Ken Hanneman, who entertained at the T. E. Hanneman home.

Great Books Series To Begin

The Lincoln Great Books organization has completed plans for a new season of discussions based on the great books and authors of the world—the classics of literature.

The discussion group for newcomers to the program and the second year group will be combined and will hold their opening meeting on Monday evening, Sept. 7, at the South Street branch library.

Beginning on Monday, Sept. 28, the third year group will hold its discussion meetings this year at the Bethany branch library. In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Louis Gilbert, Mrs. John Pazur, Mrs. Paul A. Owen and Mrs. John Wood.

The eighth year group also will open its fall season on Monday, Sept. 28, and will meet at the South Street branch library. Directing arrangements for the group are Dr. Edgar Z. Palmer, R. T. Malone, Mrs. Bernard S. Gradwohl and Mrs. Ralph L. Ireland.

Directing the beginner's and second year group are Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Owen, Miss Bernice Miller, Mrs. Howard L. Scott and Mrs. Doris Krahl.

Registration for the groups is required but there are no tuition fees and no teachers, just discussion leaders. Books are available through the libraries or inexpensive paperback editions.

A Sample Of Filipino Food

EDITOR'S NOTE—Mrs. William H. Hasebroock of West Point describes The Philippine Islands, the exotic food and shoppers' bargains in her current letter to The Lincoln Star, written during the US clubwomen's tour of the Far East.

The Islands are blessed with one woman Senator and also one woman in the House of Representatives. The excellent work by women in the Philippines is widely recognized. They have taken their civic responsibilities seriously and their activities compare most favorably with those of women in the United States. Filipinos have a high degree of intelligence and are eager to preserve their own singular traditions and heritage.

Basically, the Philippine Islands have all that is necessary for independence. There are rich resources here; the people have intelligence with 70 per cent or more literacy; and above all, the citizens have a real desire for success in their chosen fields of service.

Unemployment is acute in some areas. There are about 8 or 9 million employes and at the present time, over two million are without jobs. However, the family influence, as is customary in most of the Asian countries tends to eliminate the crisis which unemployment normally could cause.

Members of the family care for cousins and grandchildren who might need assistance. When one accepts the privilege of serving as Godparent in this country, he takes upon himself a real responsibility. If that individual as a child or an adult ever is in need, financial or spiritual, you sense your duty to help if other family assistance is not forthcoming. While the unemployment problem is critical, it does not become the social and political handicap it might be without this family-unit response.

The Philippine Islands are a part of the Malay Archipelago. In this republic, there are 7,109 islands with a population of 21 million, nine million living on Luzon, alone. The islands lie 500 miles off the coast of Asia a little above the equator. They stretch almost a 1,000 miles north and south with a coastline of over 10,000 miles, twice that of the United States. These islands are the showplace of democracy in the Orient and the only Christian country in the Far East.

The three main islands on which most of the business of the republic is conducted are Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao. The tropical climate produces a wealth of fascinating plant life. The flowers are beautiful, larger and more fragrant than we enjoy in America. Gardenias were prolific at this time of year, and leis made from Sampagnita, the national flower (a small multi-petalled and exceedingly fragrant white blossom), were presented frequently as gifts. The orchids also were numerous. We were shown one species, similar but a bit larger than the popular vanda orchid, which we were told would last a month after it was picked.

The Filipino's staple food is rice and raised in abundance in the outlying areas. We attended more dinners serving native dishes here than at previous stops. "Adobo" is a rich mixture of chicken, pork and beef, with lots of garlic. A particularly festive occasion rates "Lechon", a whole roasted pig. They have an ingenious way of treating the skin to make it edible—but for me, not palatable.

Vegetables of many varieties were prepared and their fresh fruits were particularly appealing. Many on our tour liked the papayas, but my favorite was the mango. It is different from that obtained in our country but because of its fragile skin cannot be shipped out of the Islands. It is uniquely served. The sweet orange meat of the fruit is sliced into two halves from the large center pit. A knife is thrust into the blunt end of the seed. The first time it was served to me, I presumed the knife should be removed and used as an implement to carve off portions of the fruit from the pit and out of the two halved shells. The waiter promptly returned and placed the knife back in the pit telling me to eat it like a "popsicle". The halves are eaten much like a cantaloup.

Shopping is easy in the areas where we were. Native articles are restricted generally to souvenirs. The main product of the Philippines is the native embroidery. This is modestly priced and usually of a very good quality. There is the glamorous, sheer pina cloth made of pineapple fiber, embroidered by the natives in the small "barrios". Their work is excellent. Choice dress material, linens, baby clothes and kerchiefs are plentiful, but cost as much here as they would at home.

Major Points Of Conferees' Compromise Labor Control Bill

Washington (AP)—The compromise labor control bill approved by the Senate-House conferees contains these major provisions:

1. A Bill of Rights for union members, enforceable by criminal penalties.

2. Requirements for detailed public financial reporting by unions. This reporting covers such matters as assets and liabilities, receipts, salaries, loans to officers and members, and all spending.

3. Stipulation that employers and middlemen must report on spending to influence workers.

4. Secret ballot elections for unions, with a 5-year limitation on the term of an international officer, 3 years for an officer of a local.

5. An 18-month limitation on international union trusteeships over locals.

6. A bar against any person convicted of a felony serving as a union officer or business agent. A similar ban on any person who has been a member of the Communist Party. The ban would stay on for 5 years after conviction or the end of Communist Party membership.

7. Amendment of the Taft-Hartley Law by new provisions aimed at banning secondary boycotts, at restricting organizational picketing, and at turning over to the states labor dispues in the so-called no man's land, an area in which neither the federal nor state authorities now is able to act.

In the compromise which completed work on the bill, the conferees wrote into the measure these two concessions for the construction unions:

1. Legalization of pre-hire agreements in the building industry. Such a provision was in both original bills but had been dropped by the conferees. The decision Wednesday was to take the more liberal Senate version under which no previous history of collective bargaining is required and union membership may be required after 7 days.

2. A new provision designed to legalize agreements under which a general contractor at one site pledges not to hire any non-union subcontractors.

The conferees also wrote into the bill at their final session a provision designed to make certain that present union agreements in the garment industry are legal.

Under these anti-sweatshop agreements, the prime contractor pledges not to give any of his piece work to non-union subcontractors.

In addition to the construction and garment industry provisions, this is how the conferees settled the remaining boycott and picketing questions at their final conference:

Secondary boycott—

The House bill's general ban on all secondary boycotts was accepted.

But Senate provisos were written in to make sure primary picket lines were not disturbed and that unions have the right to use advertisements and like methods to try to persuade customers not to buy a product of a struck manufacturer. But unions would be barred from using picketing for this purpose.

Organizational picketing—

Such picketing would be banned in 3 circumstances: Where another union has a contract, where the union seeking to picket has lost a bargaining election within the previous 12 months, and where picketing has been conducted for a reasonable period, not to exceed 30 days, without seeking an election.

The conferees dropped House language barring such picketing if a union could not prove it has the support of at least 30% of the employes.

'Dracula' Nabbed By Gotham Police

. . . Turns His Back On Mother And Bible

By Francis Stilley

New York (AP)—Sharp-eyed officers Wednesday grabbed the object of one of the city's greatest searches—the teen-age "Dracula" sought in the senseless playground slaying of two boys of 16.

"I'm the guy you're looking for," snapped arrogant little Salvatore Agron, 17-year-old Puerto Rican youth who fancied himself a modern counterpart of a blood-sucking fiend in a novel of long ago.

He and two pitiful companions were grubbing for food in a garbage can as radio car Patrolmen George Perette and Patrick O'Hare spotted them at 2 a.m. on a Bronx street.

"Well," said young Agron, "you're going to find out anyway."

Burst Of Bravado

In a final burst of bravado, he snarled at the policemen as he was grilled in a stationhouse:

"I don't care if I burn. My mother could watch me."

The reference was to death in the electric chair.

Argon's mother, who left the boy's father behind to come to this country when her son was a child of 8, rushed to the police station with a Bible in hand. She said her son used to read it, but had quit.

She caught a glimpse of him and pushed through a crowd of officers and newsmen. But the 5-foot-7, 110-pound boy stonily brushed past.

The mother asked a detective to take the Bible to him. The officer came back a moment later and said: "He doesn't want it."

Asked if she thought her son capable of murder, the 37-year-old Mrs. Frances Rodriguez, now remarried to a minister, replied:

"I don't know. I don't think so. But he is seldom home. I don't know what he does or who his friends are."

Alter Provisions To Allow Tenant Farms In Reserve

Lancaster County ASC Committee Chairman Dale Nelson has announced that the provisions of the 1960 Conservation Reserve Program have been amended.

The change provides that, under certain conditions, a 1960 Conservation Reserve contract may be entered into covering a farm operated or partially operated by a tenant during 1958 or 1959 provided the tenant or sharecropper left the farm voluntarily and signed a statement relinquishing further interest in the farm.

Each case will be given individual consideration by the county committee, Nelson said, and must carry their approval before such farms can enter into a contract for 1960 with the Secretary of Agriculture.

-Chiefs Take 6-4 Loss-

Disputed Boot Helps Demons

Lincoln Star Special

Des Moines, Ia. — John Kennedy's 2-run single following a disputed error by Gene Martin gave league-leading Des Moines a 6-4 victory over Lincoln here Wednesday night.

Martin's error set up the 3-run inning which handed the loss to Bryant Wasdell. On a bunt, Martin took the throw from catcher Al Schrader, but pulled his foot off first base.

Martin was thrown out of the game for protesting the call too vigorously. His exit left 3 pitchers playing in the patched-up Chiefs lineup.

Lincoln almost rallied in the 8th off reliefer Ed Kelly, who won his 7th. Mike Hershberger singled, and Jim Lynn, Pug Williamson and Schrader all hit hard line drives, but they were caught.

Des Moines took the lead in the first inning on Tom Morgan's triple and Paul Price's single, but Schrader's home run in the second tied the score. An error, Don Bacon's single and Hershberger's triple gave the Chiefs a 2-1 lead in the 3rd.

But Des Moines again went ahead on two walks and Bill McGuckin's 2-run double in the third.

Lincoln regained the lead once more with a pair in the 7th on Williamson's double and singles by Deacon Jones, Joel Horlen and Bacon.

Picks Up 18 Gold Medals, 15 Marks

Chicago (AP) — Pan-American track and field competition concluded Wednesday with another burst of record shattering power by the Olympics-pointing United States squad, which accounted for a total of 18 gold medals and 15 meet records.

Since the track carnival began on Soldier Field's brick-red racing strip last Friday night, only 3 Latin American countires dented the U.S.A. monopoly with the West Indies taking two of the 4 events not won by Uncle Sam's mighty forces.

The concluding program, staged in pleasant 70-degree weather in contrast with the heat wave which wilted the start of the Pan-Am spectacle, provided a great show for an announced crowd of 10,900.

The highlights were the U.S.A.'s record-breaking triumphs in the marathon and the 1,500-meter run, usually duck soup for foreign countries, and the flashy triumph for the U.S.-indoctrinated West Indies 1,600 meter relay team.

A rarity for America in international competition, John Kelley, an English teacher from Groton, Conn., won the marathon run with a record time of 2 hours, 27 minutes and 54.2 seconds. Furthermore, another American, James Green of Brockton, Mass., was second, about 4 minutes behind Kelley.

Then came a one-two-three U.S.A. sweep in the 1,500 meter run, won by stretch-running Dyrol Burleson, University of Oregon freshman this year, in meet record-shattering time of 3:49.1. Another Oregon star, Jim Grelle was second, 6 yards behind Burleson, while 3rd went to Ed Moran of James City, Pa.

The 10-event women's competition ended with a ridiculously easy record-breaking triumph in the 400 meter relays by the U.S.A. quartet of Barbara Jones, Ashville, Tenn.; Wilma Rudolph, Clarkesville, Tenn.; Cindy Williams, Nashville, Tenn; and Isabelle Daniels, Jaking, Ga. The Americans won in :46.4.

Uncle Sam's daughters thus won 8 gold medals and accounted for 5 of 7 new meet records.

Brandt's Clout Propels Giants

. . . Cubs 4-3 Victim In 9th

San Francisco (AP)—Jackie Brandt slammed a solo home run with one out in the last of the 9th, giving the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday. A crowd of 16,422 watched the National League leaders open their final home stand.

Brandt's blast, his 12th home, came off reliever Don Elston and climaxed an afternoon in which two other Giant's hit the ball out of the playing field.

Big Sam Jones, who came on in the 9th as the Cubs rallied with two runs to tie the score, gained credit for his 18th victory while Elston took his 7th loss.

Earlier, Felipe Alou and Willie McCovey homered for the Giants while Bobby Thomson connected with a Cub round-tripper off San Francisco starter Mike McCormick, who worked 8 1-3 innings.

San Francisco collected just 5 hits, but 3 of them went all the way. The Cubs had 6 hits, a homer and 5 singles.

OLSON . . . returns.

Olson Returns To NU Picture

. . . Huskers In First Scrimmage

By Bob McCoy

Nebraska football coach Bill Jennnings pushed his 1959 charges through their first fall scrimmage session Wednesday amid promising news on the injury-illness scene.

Jennings sent two top lineups through the scrimmage session—a workout simulating game conditions—and kept the remainder of the squad busy with group work.

The return of Don Olson, Grand Island tackle standout as a soph in 1957, considerably boosted the Husker line outlook.

Olson, who missed all of last season because of an injury then turned up with an infection earlier this week, worked out in sweat clothes in Wednesday's morning and afternoon sessios.

Center Bob Kitchen of McCook, out with a sore throat for two days, also rejoined the squad Wednesday while there was no change on sophomore guard Don Houser of Lincoln, who remained in the Student Health Center under observation for what appeared earlier to be appendicitis.

Passing by quarterbacks Tom Kramer and Harry Tolly and halfbacks Pat Fischer and Carroll Zaruba figured in sion, which included these two lineups:

Centers—Darrell Cooper and Mick Tinglehoff.

Right guards—LeRoy Zentic and Dick Kosier.

Right tackles—Roland McDole and Joe Gacusana.

Right ends—Max Martz and Bill Tuning.

Quarterbacks—Tolly and Kramer.

Right halfbacks—Zaruba and Clay White.

Fullbacks—Don Fricke and Noel Martin.

Jennings said the Huskers will definitely use a lot of passing patterns 'his fall. "In fact, with the caliber of competition this season, we'll almost have to," he mused.

The Huskers will continue two-a-day drills the remainder of this week and will point for a possible full game scrimmage Saturday.

Diller Hanover Wins Rich Run

. . . Hambletonian Worth $73,667

DuQuoin, Ill. (AP)—Unruffled by a lost shoe, odds-on choice Diller Hanover scored a straight-heat victory worth $73,667 Wednesday in the Hambletonian, richest harness race in history.

The bay son of Star's Pride lost a shoe on his right front foot at about the three-quarter pole of the second heat but it didn't stop him from taking the final dash in 2:01 4-5.

Ordinarily, such a mishap would throw a trotter off balance and cause him to break stride.

Diller Hanover, a bargain at $6,300, withstood the stretch challenge of stablemate Tie Silk to win the first mile in 2:01 1-5.

Pinch-hitter Frank Ervin, driving Diller Hanover for only the second time, said "I wasn't in doubt about the second heat but I was a little afraid of Tie Silk the first time."

The Diller Hanover-Ervin combination proved too much for 14 competitors in this 34th renewal of the year's biggest race for 3-year-old trotters, worth $125,284.

Tie Silk and Flight Song trailed him the first mile; Circo and Lady Belvedere, the lone filly in the field, in the second.

Ervin's strategy with Diller Hanover was nearly identical in each dash. In the first heat, he held the colt in favorable position until the ⅜ of a mile post. Then Ervin made his move.

Turning into the stretch with Tie Silk on the drive, Diller Hanover edged over the line by a neck.

In the second heat, Ervin made his move a little later, bringing Diller to the front about the ¾ spot and leaving little doubt by the outcome in the stretch.

A crowd of 22,000 in the fashionable racing quarters at the DuQuom State Fair saw Diller Hanover push his career earnings to $205,784.

Ervin, long frustrated in his attempts to win a Hambletonian, got his chance when regular driver-trainer Ralph Baldwin fulfilled a contract obligation and drove Tie Silk, the other half of the Baldwin entry.

Reds Hurt Buc Hopes

Cincinnati (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, who had swept only one doubleheader all season, hung a one-two punch on the Pittsburgh's pennant hopes Wednesday night as they won both ends of a twi-night twin bill from the Pirates, 6-3, and 2-1.

Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief pitcher, gave up the hit that provided the Reds' with their margin of victory in the opener but he wasn't charged with the defeat.

White Sox Win Pair

Chicago (AP) — The league-leading Chicago White Sox dynamited Detroit with 11 runs in the 5th inning of the nightcap Wednesday night for an 11-4 victory after whipping the Tigers 7-2 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

A screaming crowd of 43,237 watched the Chicagoans boost their American League lead to 5½ games over the Cleveland Indians who won a single game from Kansas City.

Cellar-Dwellers Give McCook Flag

North Platte, Neb. (AP)—Dave Vineyard held Holdrege to 6 hits and North Platte picked up a run in the last of the 8th inning to beat the Sox 3-2 and give McCook the Nebraska State League championship.

The defeat meant the Sox lost their last chance to catch the Braves.

Vineyard struck out 11 as he pitched last year's champs, now in last place, to the win.

Kearney Wins, 7-6

Hastings, Neb. (AP)—Hastings dropped a 7-6 decision to Kearney in the Nebraska State League Wednesday night.

Woody Huyke of Hastings got 4 for 4 in the game, giving him 5 straight hits. He had a home run in his last time at bat Tuesday night and got a triple, double and two singles Wednesday night.

McCook Backs Into Crown

Grand Island, Neb. (AP) — Tony Filicchia collected his 11th win Wednesday night as he beat McCook 6-1 in a Nebraska State League game shortened to 6 innings by rain.

1959 Huskers

Pat Fischer

Pat Fischer, a graduate of Omaha Westside, entered the Nebraska football scene with a bang last fall, sprinting almost length of the field with a kick-off return to help upset Penn State.

Fischer

After that, Pat was plagued by injuries most of the season, but still proved to be a fine runner and safety man. He averaged 15.4 on 9 punt returns in 1958. If he can escape injuries, Pat can supply much of the running threat Nebraska has lacked in recent years.

He is the 4th Fischer to play for the Cornhuskers. Brothers Cletus, Kenny and Rex preceded him.

A 19-year-old junior, Fischer is 5-9 and weighs 166.

Games Needed

The following schools need football games on these dates:

11-man: Imperial, Oct. 23; Clarks, Oct. 28.

8-man: Dorchester, Oct. 16, 31; Kenesaw, Oct. 9; Stella, Sept. 25.

6-man—Creston, Sept. 18, Oct. 2, 23.

Graduation Worse Than Tornado

David Lynch, coach at Arcadia, reports that tornado damage is going to be easier to replace than damage to the Loup Valley Conference champs done by graduation.

The tornado damaged the football field, but new goal posts, lights and bleachers are being put up. A new gym floor is also going to be laid.

But Lynch is unhappy about losing 6 starters from last year's 6-3 team. Top loss is Jim Tuning, back who led the team in just about everything.

Ten lettermen are back, but most saw little action, says Lynch. To make things tougher, enrollment dropped and only 30 boys are expected, with 24 now out for the 11-man football team.

SE Uses 'Turn-Around' QB

Lincoln Southeast will again use coach Tom Gillaspie's turned-around quarterback. The SE quarterback turns his back completely to the line of scrimmage, facing his backfield, and standing slightly to one side of the center.

Gillaspie used the system last year after adopting it from the "side-saddle" position used at Indiana by Phil Dickens, who has his quarterback face sideways. After a year's try, Gillaspie is satisfied the position helps the quarterback in handling his plays faster.

Gillaspie says he's had questions as to why he has his boys working so early (6 a.m.). His answer: beat the heat, provides more rest between morning and afternoon sessions, and lets the boys eat breakfast after the workout, thus giving better digestion.

Shoveling Coal Lacking

I've heard coaches complain before that modern-day kids aren't in condition because they drive cars all the time instead of walking. Gillaspie came up with a new one the other day.

Tom opined that shoveling coal for the furnace and cutting wood used to develop muscles in the forearm that modern teen-agers lack.

As a remedy, Gillaspie has his Knights carrying 25-pounds bags of sand.

PARR TO PASS UP NBA PLAY

Cincinnati (AP)—The Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association lost some sorely needed height Wednesday when Jack Parr, former Kansas State star, announced he would not play this year.

Parr, who stands 6-9, notified Royals' general manager Pepper Wilson, that he plans to enter Washburn University to complete undergraduate studies necessary for him to enter medical school.

Building Still NE Gridiron Problem

By Al Beebe

It's tough to build yourself up. That's the difficulty Lincoln Northeast coach Art Bauer is facing this season.

The Rockets hope to improve on last season's 1-8 record. The outlook isn't bright, but not hopeless.

Bauer has only 9 lettermen from last year's squad, but he expects to have a respectable first team. Once again, however, the Rockets lack depth. The second and third stringers must develop to insure a winning season, while the starters get through without serious injury.

The schedule-maker took no pity this year, either.

In addition to opposition against Lincoln High and Southeast and Mid-East foes, the Rockets wind up the season with 3 straight against Omaha Inter-City League teams—Westside, North and powerhouse Central.

An important position shift may hold the key to Northeast fortunes. Larry Sipp, who lettered as a 225-pound tackle last year, has picked up speed by slimming to 210 and will play fullback on the 1959 edition.

A big powerhouse such as Sipp, a competent weightman in track last season, should help the Northeast attack considerably if he develops. Sipp could help the smaller halfbacks to go.

Halfback Jim Grabowski and quarterback Jim Marple are the only backs returning.

Linemen lettermen are guard Loren Brunke, tackle Don Copas, guard Chuck Foster, guard Herb Grossman, and ends Leslie Smith and Jerry Witherby.

Squadmen and reserves from last year are putting up a battle for some positions. Chief among these is Mel Hester, feuding with Marple for the quarterback post.

Other top candidates include centers Mike Draper and Larry Marcotte, guard Ned Murphy, tackle Tom Thomson, ends Bill Snyder, Ralph Wolfe and Jim Wiest, and backs Ron Peet, Dave Lebsack and Larry Stanley.

Northeast schedule:

Sept. 11—Southeast; 18—at Fremont; 25—at Grand Island; Oct. 2—Lincoln High; 9—Beatrice; 16—at Hastings; 23—Fairbury; 29—Omaha Westside; Nov. 6—Omaha North; 13—at Omaha Central.

O'Dell Shuts Out Boston On 7 Blows

Baltimore (AP) — Lefty Bill O'Dell pitched a 7-hit 4-0 shutout Wednesday night as the Baltimore Orioles repulsed the Boston Red Sox threat to their 5th place perch in the American League.

The Red Sox had won 6 in a row from the Orioles and led the season series 12-6 before O'Dell stopped them and prevented Boston from moving up a notch in the standings.

U.S. Cage Squad Rips El Salvador

Chicago (AP) — The towering USA basketball team, substituting by platoons, Wednesday night romped to a 101-42 victory over El Salvador to stretch its unbeaten record through 4 games in the Pan-American tourney.

The Yanks were quick to set the tempo, hitting 50 per cent of their shots and outrebounding the Central American champions, 25 to 9, while barreling to a 58-23 halftime lead.

The early surge that knocked out El Salvador was led by Burdette Haldorson with 12 points, Oscar Robertson with 11 and Dan Swartz with 10.

Bob Boozer, Bill Evans, Swartz, Bob Jeangerard and Haldorson made up the starting unit and alternated with a platoon of Robertson, George Bon Salle, Jerry West, Gary Thompson and Jack Adams.

Five Yank players hit in double figures: Haldorson made 14 points, West and Robertson each 13, Swartz, 11 and Boozer 10.

BERRA HR LEADS NY BY NATS

New York (AP) — Yogi Berra's two-run 8th-inning homer gave the New York Yankees the cushion they needed Wednesday night for a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

Berra's homer, his 18th, followed a leadoff singled by Tony Kubek off loser Pete Ramos (12-16) and broke a 2-all tie.

The Nats then scored in the 9th, on Harmon' Killebrew's double and a single by Clint Courtney, before Jim Coates, the winner in relief.

Bell's Relief Job Earns Tribe Win

Cleveland (AP) — Gary Bell hurled 9 innings in relief Wednesday night to post his 15th victory and the Cleveland Indians smacked a dozen hits off 5 Kansas City pitchers for a 6-3 victory.

Bell took over in the first inning from Herb Score, who left with none out, the bases loaded and two runs home for the Athletics. Bell shut off the rally, striking out two batters and getting the 3rd to fly out.

Wih the exception of a 3rd-inning homer by Dick Williams, the Indians' 22-year-old right-hander kept Kansas City in check.

Meanwhile, Bell's teammates hammered out 5 runs in the 3rd inning and chased Ned Garver (9-11), the A's starting and losing pitcher. A bases-loaded single by Tito Francona scored two runs. Woodie Held doubled, driving in two more runs and George Strickland scored Held with a two-bagger.

Held tripled in the 6th inning and a sacrifice fly by Strickland counted the 6th Cleveland run.

Despite the victory, which stopped a 4-game losing streak, the game held a big disappointment for the second-place Indians—the failure of Score to produce.

It was the left-hander's first start in more than two weeks. Manager Joe Gordon planned to use him in a weekend series against the league-leading Chicago White Sox, if he showed winning form.

JAYS LOSE BILL CRANK

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) —Bill Crank, tagged as Kansas' starting quarterback this fall, is out for the season, coach Jack Mitchell announced Wednesday.

"Bill's knee operation was a total failure," Mitchell said. "He worked on it today and yesterday and the knee seems to be getting worse rather than better."

Last season Crank was the club's No. 2 passer and rusher. He gained 375 yards on 82 tries, second only to Homer Floyd's 391.

Mitchell kept juggling his lineups in search of starters and alternates.

DICK TIGER ENDS ARMSTRONG SKEIN

Camden, N.J. (AP) — Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion, handed Gene (Ace) Armstrong his first pro defeat Wednesday night by taking a 10-round decision at Convention Hall.

The Nigerian fighter sent Armstrong to the floor for the first time in his career in the 3rd round of the nationally televised (ABC) fight. He stayed down for a count of 4.

The 5th-ranked Armstrong took the first two rounds, employing nimble jabs that bothered Tiger. But from the 3rd on, it was mostly Tiger's fight.

Using a left hook almost exclusively, Tiger, at 162, had Armstrong staggering against the ropes in the 5th round 3 times.

Referee Joey Harrison, the only official, scored it 6 rounds for Tiger, 4 for Armstrong, giving Ace the first, second, 4th and 10th. The AP had it 6-2-2.

For the 27-year-old Armstrong, of Elizabeth, N.J., it was his first defeat in 18 fights. Tiger, who is 30, now has a 34-8-2 record. In his two previous American bouts, both with Rory Calhoun, he lost one and fought the second to a draw.

Veteran driver Fritz Tegtmeier

Old-Timer Tegtmeier Enters State Fair Racing

Fritz Tegtmeier, considered the grand old man of auto racing, has entered the 3 days of International Motor Contest Assn. big car racing during the State Fair, Sept. 6, 7 and 10.

Tegtmeier, who has put in 37 years on tracks all over the nation and is a former may of Elgin, owns his own car, the light blue No. 24 Oldsmobile powered model.

The 56-year-old Tegtmeier doubles as his own mechanic. Last year at the State Fair, Tegtmeier showed up for the second day after missing opening day, and held on to win the Australian Pursuit.

Fair Secretary Edwin Schultz expects a strong contingent of California speedway drivers, headed by Colby Scroggins and Jim Hurtubise in their Offenhauser-powered cars for the races. A field of more than 30 Indianapolis-type race cars, representing a dozen states, is expected.

Hurtibise ranked 2nd to Pete Folse of Tampa, Fla., in the most recent IMCA point standings.

Winding up the state fair auto racing program will be the Nebraska International on Friday, Sept. 11, a late model stock car race in whi American-made sports cars will clash with foreign-built sports cars in a 200-lap race over the 5-8 mile track.

Fair officials report that the top stock car drivers in the country, including Ernie Derr of Keokuk, Iowa, the current pace-setter will compete for a share of prize money.

Parimutuel Tax Gained $43,411

The recently-enacted state tax on parimutuel betting brought in $43,411 during the 19-day racing session at the State Fairgrounds, Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz reported Wednesday.

The tax, which is based on the gross amount wagered during the race meet which ended Tuesday, will go into the state general fund.

Schultz also announced an admission tax charged at the races brought in $9,969. This together with $1,172 collected from license fees will go to the State Racing Commission for distribution among the state's county fairs.

Christensen Takes Reins At Wayne

By Paul LeBar

Gwynn Christensen, a newcomer from the prep ranks in Muskego, Wisc., has his work cut out for him when he assumed the reins at Wayne State Teachers College this fall.

Christensen

Once a starting halfback with the University of Wisconsin Badgers, Christensen has fallen heir to a Wildcat squad that won 4 of 9 engagements last fall.

What makes matters tough for the freshman pilot is the fact that his squad is basically the same one that swept to 4 straight victories at the tail end of the season in '58.

Thirty-six of the old hands are back, including 18 numeral winners.

On the brighter side Christensen notes he has veterans 4 deep in all spots except quarterback. Don Potter, a senior signal-caller from Columbus, is expected to handle the latter post efficiently.

Returning linemen who lettered include Dale Blattert and Rod Tietsort, ends; Rollie Kaup, Randy Dubbel, Fred Curtis and Mel Johnson, tackles; Jim Puetz, Bill Baker, Frank Hanel and Larry Sheppard, guards, and Bill Peterson and Orville Qualsett, centers.

Puetz, Johnson and Potter earned all-NCC honorable mention listings a year ago.

Claire Casper and Bob Schnitzler were the squad's leading ground gainers last season and are both back in the fold this fall.

Other secondary lettermen include Bob Tighe, Jim Grove and Elmer Mahler, all halfbacks.

Lynn Nick, Mark Tietsort, Dennis Korth, Neal Lentz, Dean Specht, John Bernthal, Jim Winch, Tom Paisley, Paul Hayes and Lyle Blattert all have experience.

The schedule:

Sept. 12—at Augustana (S. Dak.) (7-20); 19—Doane (20-13); 26—Wesleyan (0-28).
Oct. 3—Kearney (0-56); 10—at Chadron (7-27); 17—at Peru (2-16); 24—Concordia (61-14); 31—at Hastings (21-13).
Nov. 7—Midland (48-0).

$1 Million From Unions Goes To Steel Strikers

Washington (AP)—Walter Reuther announced a million-dollar union donation to steel strikers. He also charged that President Eisenhower is evading his public responsibility in dealing with the 8-week walkout.

Reuther, head of the Auto Workers Union, said the million dollars comes as "an initial down payment" from unions comprising the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department he also heads.

He said the IUD unions are mobilizing funds and picket line demonstrations around steel plants to bolster the strikers in a labor showdown that he said may last into the winter.

Reuther said Eisenhower is evading his leadership responsibilities by not appointing a public fact-finding board to sift steel dispute issues and recommend a solution. He said fact reports issued by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell are "too little and too late."

"If Eisenhower publicly takes a hands-off position in this, as he has done, and then turns around and invokes the Taft-Hartley law to stop the strike and bail out the industry when it begins to feel a pinch, the President will be using his high office as an anti-labor weapon and strike-breaking agency."

Reminded that the Taft-Hartley emergency provisions are a matter of law, while there is no statute either authorizing or frobidding a fact board that would recommend a strike settlement plan, Reuther said:

"The essence of White House leadership is not what the law technically requires you to do, but what common sense and the public good requires. The President can't escape his moral obligation by hiding behind legal technicalities."

Citizens Must Insist On Safety Program—Camp

Highways can be made safer for everyone, if citizens are hard-boiled enough to insist on a program which makes arrogance and carelessness behind the steering wheel unpopular, Bernie Camp, information director of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, said.

He said traffic safety conferences and campaigns are fine — if they lead to action.

The whole community must focus its attention on action, Camp said.

This means, he continued, education for drivers to impress upon them that a driving permit is not a traffic hunting license, and stiffer penalties for all drivers who violate safety codes, beginners as well as experienced drivers.

1st Time Can Be Fatal

A first time violation can kill or maim just as many as the accident caused by the repeater, Camp said.

In all cases, the information director said, courts need to be encouraged to take punitive action sufficient to discourage repeated violations.

Summing up, Camp said, "traffic safety and lives saved result from an action program, not from talking about a program and creating slogans."

Relations Renewed

Cairo (AP) — Mohamed Al Sheriki has arrived as Jordan's first ambassador to the United Arab Republic in more than a year. The two countries broke relations in mid-1958 and agreed to resume them last month.

BYRNE NAMED UPI AGENT

Chicago (UPI) — Daniel F. Byrne, 32, was named Tuesday as regional representative for United Press International, to serve the area of Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

His appointment to the post was announced by Roberick W. Beaton, UPI central division manager. He succeeds Murray M. Moler, who returns to Salt Lake City, Utah, to become intermountain states manager.

Byrne is a native of Omaha and will make his headquarters there. He has been bureau manager at Des Moines since August, 1956. He joined the then United Press at Madison, Wis., in October, 1950, and remained there to cover two sessions of the Wisconsin Legislature before moving briefly to Milwaukee and then to Des Moines.

He is a graduate of Creighton University of Omaha and a veteran of overseas service with the Army. He is married to the former Jo-Anne Govern, and the couple has two sons, Kevin and Corcoran.

Against Park Police Proposal

Washington (AP) — Interior Secretary Fred Seaton says he is not interested in making penal institutions of national parks and from that angle is opposed to the bill of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat, to create a conservation corps.

Seaton said he is in sympathy with Humphrey's desire to take youngsters off the streets but feels if Congress wishes to make appropriations to deal with juvenile delinquency it could do better than send untrained and untutored youngsters into parks to work.

Then he commented "I wonder what sort of situation we would have if we took the so-called child delinquents and put them in the parks and 60 million Americans who are visiting them this year come along with their youngsters.

"Some Contact"

"There is bound to be some contact. I don't believe that will appeal to American parents."

The National Park Service and operators of concessions in national park units now employ 7,500 to 9,000 youngsters in the area each year.

"The mere dumping in national parks and national forests of thousands of youngsters will not guarantee any conservation program at all," Seaton said.

WILBERT

"It's a Manhattan except I use chocolate instead of vermouth and milk instead of whiskey!"

Ak-Sar-Ben Scholarships Go To 98 Ag Students

Ninety-eight University of Nebraska College of Agriculture students have been named recipients of $150 scholarships awarded by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben at Omaha.

First started in 1946, the Ak-Sar-Ben program is designed to encourage young Nebraska men and women to attend the College and prepare themselves for leadership in agriculture and home economics, states Howard Deems, chairman of the College scholarships committee.

The scholarships are awarded on the basis of grade average; farming and home economics leadership activities; and need.

The 33 women receiving the scholarships by classes include:

Freshmen (new recipients)—Sandra Clark, North Platte; Elizabeth Johnson, Lincoln; Beverly Ronhovde, Lincoln; Vlasta Schlotman, Valparaiso; June Struve, Deshler, and Cleo Terry, Wisner.

Long Voyage Begins For Life-Loving Potter Woman Heading For Homeland

By Jack Pollock

Potter, Neb. — Fifty-eight years ago, just after the turn of the century, a young lady of 22 arrived in America from Sweden. This week, with A Swedish accent almost unchanged, the same lady is starting the first leg of a trip in which she will return to her native Sweden for the first time.

Now grey-haired and 80, she is Mrs. Christina Carlson, a resident of Potter since her arrival in the United States. She will be accompanied on her trip by two daughters, Miss Esther Carlson and Mrs. Hildur Johnson, both of Potter.

A seasoned traveler at 80, Mrs. Carlson takes annual trips, usually in the U.S., but she has also vistied 8 other countries. One of her more recent trips was an overnight flight to Cuba to visit the nightclubs.

So far, she's never been "bothered" by traveling. "I'm lucky. I can go either high or low (by air or ship)," she quipped.

To this she adds, "You can do anything if you just make up your mind to do it."

This can be testified to by the fact she still:

—Shovels her own sidewalks in the winter. ("I've got a block and one-half.")

—Trims her own trees. (I can just as easily break a leg on the flat (floor) in my kitchen as trimming a tree.") She believes, "If anything is going to happen, it's going to happen" regardless of place or time.

—Takes care of her own garden of flowers; which are her pride and joy.

On her last trip to Florida she brought back 12 different types of flowers and plants. One palm tree finally got so big she gave it to her church.

Her annual trips aren't merely for sight-seeing either. Last year, she was the only one of her party to catch "the big ones" one a deep-sea fishing trip off the California coast.

And on her recent trip to Cuba, she visited one of the largest nightclubs. "It was a beautiful place," she admits. A non-drinker, she paid 3 dollars "just to sip" her lemonade.

She has ideas about nightclubs too: "I think ministers, too, should see places like that so they can know what they're talking about."

Mrs. Carlson is also active back at her home in Potter. Until she was 78, she made frequent trips to the Sidney swimming pool but the last couple of years "the water has been too cold."

Another favorite past-time was sunbathing but this past summer she "just didn't have time."

Another hobby is reading. And that's one reason there's no TV in her home. "I have no time for TV. I've already got more books saved up than I'll ever have time to read," she reports.

In addition to her books, she reads the Swedish-American, a Swedish language newspaper published in Chicago.

Despite her personal TV ban, she admits to "playing a little Canasta in the winter."

She has a simple philosophy once present in many homes: "I can always be happy—I can make my own entertainment."

While in Sweden, Mrs. Carlson will observe her 81st birthday on Oct. 9. On her trip, she'll visit many cousins, nieces and nephews, and former friends—and friends and relatives of her Potter neighbors.

When she's finished there, she has plenty of relatives to come back to. A mother 8 times, she also helped raise one other boy. She has been a grandmother 26 times and has 18 great-grandchildren.

80 YEARS YOUNG

Christina Carlson of Potter, Neb., reading her Swedish-American newspaper. At 80 she bans TV in her home but her life includes a variety of deep-sea fishing, night-clubbing, snow shoveling and a trip this week to her native Sweden—her first since coming to the U.S. in 1901. Accompanying her on the trip are two daughters, Miss Esther Carlson and Mrs. Hildur Johnson, both of Denver.

Mental Examination Sought For Accused Omaha Rapist

Omaha (AP)—An attorney for Charles E. Dean, who has admitted 4 or 5 cases of rape in the last month, said Wednesday efforts would be made to have a mental examination of the 23-year-old man.

Dean is charged with two counts of rape.

Attorney Frederick Cassman, who has acted as attorney for Dean and his family in the past, said he will not represent Dean in court but will seek the examination.

Chief Deputy County Attorney Donald Knowles said he would "make no motion for an examination of Dean" himself.

Knowles said the charges are based on two cases in which women were abducted from Mandan Park in Omaha, taken to Sarpy County and raped.

Sarpy County Attorney Dixon Adams placed a hold against Dean Wednesday. He said he filed two complaints, each charging one count each of rape and robbery.

Meanwhile, a 23-year-old baby sitter identified Dean as the man who entered a home at 9th Street and Missouri Avenue where she was sitting and at shotgun point forced her to a car where he attacked her sexually.

Potter Days Queen

Potter, Neb. (AP) — An attractive 17-year-old blue eyed brunette has been chosen to reign over the Potter Days celebration here Sept. 18 and 19. Janet Egging was chosen from a field of 13 contestants at a dance and pageant. She is a senior at Potter High School this fall and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Egging.

Body Of Iowan Found In Missouri River

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — The body of James McComas, 52, Hamburg, Iowa, who drowned Sunday in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue a boy in the Missouri River, was recovered Wednesday.

The body was spotted by a golden retriever riding in a boat with Milton Barnes, South Sioux City, Neb., volunteer fireman said. It was wedged against piling about half a mile south of the combination bridge.

Searchers found the body of James Phillippi Jr., 14, formerly of Champaign, Ill., Tuesday about a mile south of the bridge.

County Murder Rate in 1959 Above National, But Other Categories Below Average

By Del Harding

Lincoln-Lancaster County crime figures for 1958 were below national averages in 6 of 7 categories, according to information released Wednesday in an FBI report.

But the one category in which the city and county were higher was murder and non-negligent manslaughter.

The city and county total of 16 such deaths during 1958 gave the city-county metropolitan area a "rate" of 11.3 such deaths per 100,000 population. This compares with a national average of 4.7 per 100,000 population.

The Charles Starkweather murder rampage accounted for 9 of the victims.

But Lincoln-Lancaster County's crime rate on other major crime categories was much better than the national average.

City-county robberies, for instance, totalled only 21 for a rate of 14.8 per 100,000 population. The national average was 43.5.

Nine forcible rapes gave the city-county a rate of 6.4 compared with the national figure of 8.4 per 100,000 population.

Twenty-eight city-county cases of aggravated assault resulted in a rate of 19.8 compared with the national figure of 65.5 per 100,000 population.

There were 379 city-county burglaries for a rate of 267.8. The national average was 392.4.

Larcenies of over $50 totalled 272 in the city and county for a rate per 100,000 population of 192.2. The national average was 226.

Juvenile Crime Jumps Nationally

Washington (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported that the number of juveniles arrested for serious crimes rose by 8.1 per cent last year. Their offenses helped push the national crime rate 9.3 per cent above 1957.

Of 2,340,004 persons arrested for such crimes as murder, rape and aggravated assault, slightly more than 12 per cent were under 18. Nearly 20 per cent were under 21 and about 29 per cent were under 25 years of age.

The FBI's new "crime clock" showed that crime increased 5 times faster than the U.S. population last year. It also disclosed that juvenile arrests increased far more sharply than adult arrests. Adult arrests rose by 1.8 per cent, as against the 8.1 per cent for juveniles.

The FBI used seven major crimes as the basis for measuring the overall 9.3 per cent boost. Under the new system, it no longer considers minor larcenies, negligent manslaughter and statutory rape as part of the crime index.

Forcible rape led the way last year with an increase of 13 per cent. Robbery and burglary followed closely with increases of 12.7 per cent and 12.6 per cent respectively.

State Crime Up

Omaha (AP)—The FBI's 1958 national tabulation of crime in the nation showed the Nebraska rate to be up in 4 categories and down in two as compared to 1957.

Based on crimes per 100,000 population the Nebraska rate of aggravated assault was down .4% and the rate of auto thefts was down .2%.

In the categories of increase were murders 25 to 46, robbery 166 to 278, burglaries 2,501 to 2,912 and larceny 1,225 to 1,317 per 100,000 population.

Ford Small Car Details Told; First Of Major U.S. Lines

Detroit—America's wait for an answer by major U.S. automobile makers to Europe's challenge in the field of the low priced, lightweight, low cost car field has ended.

The Ford Motor Company Wednesday announced details of its new Falcon car. It will weigh three-quarters of a ton less than the company's 1959 Fairlane Ford, will get 30 miles to the gallon in normal highway driving.

While the selling price was not revealed, industry speculation placed the figure at slightly below $2,000.

Chrysler and Chevrolet likewise are preparing their respective versions of the "new small car." Chevrolet has set October 2 to reveal its new Corvair. Chrysler October 9 to unveil its new Dart model, and, tentatively, November 6 to reveal an alternate model, the Valiant, according to Business Week.

The automotive industry expects a 1960 domestic market of between 750,000 to 1 million American small cars.

While all three producers will vary widely in car design their products in common will cater to American taste, will stress lower cost, greater economy and normal passenger capacity.

Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Company, said the new Falcon is built on a 109½ inch wheel base in contrast to the 1959 Ford's 118 inch wheel base. It will be 40 per cent lighter at 2,366 pounds and will carry six passengers with comfort. It is designed to meet the public's requirement for high gas mileage and low initial cost.

The Falcon will have an overall length of 181.1 inches. This is 2.8 inches more than the Rambler American, smallest current domestic car. The Falcon will be 54.5 inches high and 70 inches wide. It was announced 100,000 Falcons will be built by the end of 1959.

The new small cars are expected to increase the number of two car families while generally broadening the base of general car owning.

Wheat Finishes At Season Highs

Chicago (AP) — All wheat futures contracts finished at or near new high prices for the season again Wednesday as the market generally worked moderately higher on the Board of Trade.

All advances in wheat were less than a cent a bushel but they left the March and May delivedies slightly above their previous highs and the other months within a cent of their peaks.

September rye was the broadest gainer on a runup of 2¼ cents while September soybeans showed the only loss on the board, a small fraction.

As on other recent days the best advances were in the September contracts with a good deal of the support coming from short interests who began covering commitments when it became apparent that longs may offer relatively small volumes of actual grains for delivery.

Since the end of last week, short selling has virtually ceased. Instead, the movement has been toward reinstating long positions in the belief that producers either have put their wheat in government or will hold it until the end of the current tax year.

Offers to deliver corn have been absent and soybean tenders have been very meager so far.

In futures trading, wheat closed ⅞-¾ cent a bushel higher, September $1.92⅝-¾; corn ⅛-⅜ higher, September $1.19-1.19¼; oats ⅛-⅞ higher, September new type contract 67¼; rye ½-2¼ higher, September $1.31½; soybeans ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, September $2.10.

CHICAGO

Prices were as much as 40 cents a hundredweight higher in the butcher hog market Wednesday with the extreme advance at the top level.

Offerings again were small 6,500 head but shipper demand slackened slightly and trade was slow at the close. The supply was mostly in the 190-260 lb range.

The $15.00 top went for one lot of No. 2 grade scaling 225 lbs but the 200-230 lb No. 1 and 2 and mixed 1-2 grades moved readily at $14.50-14.75. A few strictly No. 2 grade 220 pounders sold at $14.90 and some 200-210 lb 2s and 3s down to $14.00. The 200-230 lb. 1-3 and 2-3 grades brought $14.25-14.50 and heavier weights $13.25-14.00.

Sows were strong to 25 cents higher and cleared at $10.50-13.50.

In cattle steady and active slaughter steer market, a few strictly prime grade offerings weighing 1,225 lbs brought a $30.00 top, the highest in three weeks.

High choice and prime grades in the 1,150-1,375 lb range sold at $29.25-29.50 and other choice and prime at $27.50-29.00. The good to low choice were $25.50-27.25.

Heifers were steady to 25 cents higher, vealers steady to $1.00 higher and bulls weak. The choice and prime heifers went at $27.50-28.25, good to choice at $25.00-27.25 and good to choice vealers at $32.00-34.00. Bulls were $21.00-23.50 for utility and commercial kinds.

The sheep market was steady with slaughter lambs grading good to choice bringing $19.50-22.00 and ewes $4.00-5.50.

Crisis Eases

Defense Command Remains Intact

New Delhi (AP) — India's defense command came through its political crisis intact Wednesday.

Tension over the northeast frontier also relaxed somewhat with reports that Red Chinese troops may be pulling out of border posts they grabbed last week.

Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament the nation's defense command will continue unchanged despite a dispute over army promotions between Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon and Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian army commander.

Nehru said Thimayya resigned Monday, but decided to stay in his post at the prime minister's request.

Nehru indicated his complete support for Krishna Menon, praising the controversial defense minister and diplomatic trouble shooter for his "great energy and enthusiasm."

Dalai Lama Visits

The Dalai Lama came here Wednesday and conferred with Nehru on the future of communist-ruled Tibet.

Informants said the exiled god-king of Tibet felt an appeal to the United Nations would be helpful in bringing world attention to the situation, but that Nehru felt otherwise.

They gave this picture: While the Dalai Lama is free to do whatever appears best to him in the interests of the Tibetan people, Nehru told him India would not be in a position to sponsor Tibet's case in the U.N. They said Nehru also told him India is not in a position to confer emigre government status on the Dalai Lama and his aides who fled Tibet.

Nehru received the Dalai Lama at his home and exchanged scarves with him in the Tibetan tradition of welcome.

MOTHER AND 3 CHILDREN ARE FOUND DEAD

Troy, Ohio (AP)—The bodies of a 28-year-old mother and her 3 children, missing since Monday afternoon, were found Wednesday in a parked station wagon in a picnic grove along the Stillwater river at nearby West Milton.

Miami County Coroner William Adkins said it was a case of suicide of the mother and murder of the 3 chillden by carbon monoxide fumes.

Officers identified the woman as Mrs. Elizabeth Altic of West Milton and the children as Leonard Gene, 5; Lynn Louise, 3, and Laura Lee, 2.

Miami county sheriff's deputies said the woman had run a hose from the exhaust pipe through the car window.

NU Traditions A Change From High School For New Students

By Nancy Shirley

"High school days were never like this," many University of Nebraska freshmen have muttered as they crawled from warm beds at 7 a.m. to attend that early class.

And this year's crop of freshmen, estimated by NU officials to be about 1,600 students, will also find that the University is indeed different from high school.

One of the major differences is the preponderance of traditions at NU. These traditions, a part of college life, require a special language—a sort of "Cornhusker talk."

Following an NU freshman through what could be a normal day, one could find many occasions when "Cornhusker talk" is the only language spoken.

'Hourly'

That first class of the day, at 8 a.m., may be the scene of an "hourly." "Hourly" is the student's affectionate term for an hour exam, which is a test which takes one hour to complete. Hour exams are usually given every 4 weeks.

After our typical freshman has struggled through a grueling hour-long exam in chemistry, he may have occasion to join other students at "The Crib." Located in the Student Union, "the Crib" is the crowded, smoke-filled coffeeshop, where coffee, music and conversation are always in style.

From the Crib, our refreshed freshman goes to his other morning classes before adjourning for lunch.

"Chow time" is, for some male students, followed by a half-hour "whistle session."—sitting on the front steps of their residences, whistling at coeds passing on their way to classes.

At 1 p.m., we find our freshman sitting in his classroom, chatting with a fellow student in the absence of the professor. At 1:10, everyone grabs his books and dashes madly for the door, shouting something that sounds like "That good old 10-minute rule."

If the professor hasn't arrived by 10 minutes after the time for class to start, students are allowed to leave.

As he leaves the building for his second cup of coffee at the Crib, someone asks our freshman if he's "rallying tonight?"

This simply means, he learns, that it's the night before a Husker game, and every loyal Husker fan can be found parading down 16th St. and cheering for the team on the steps of the Student Union.

Being a loyal Husker fan, our freshman goes to the rally.

The Pillars

After the rally, it's time for a trip to the Pillars—if our freshman knows the tradition of the Pillars. If he doesn't, he'll soon learn that no girl is ever "officially a coed" until she's been kissed in the shadow of the Pillars on a moonlit night.

This would be a typical day in the life of a freshman student at NU. But Cornhusker traditions include many days which are not typical.

Ivy Day—when the May Queen is crowned, and new Innocents and Mortar Boards, members of senior honorary societies for men and women, are revealed.

Or Spring Day—when everyone dons old clothes and participates in contests ranging from a tug-of-war across a water-filled ditch to a race between coeds pushing peanuts with their noses.

Or Husker game days—when the sounds of shouting, laughing, cheering and singing blend with the ringing of the bells in Mueller Tower "singing silo" game-day concert.

Or Monday nights — when fraternity men announce their "pinnings" to NU coeds, and the night is filled with singing voices as they serenade.

Yes, tradition does abound in Huskerland. And these traditions change "green" freshmen into loyal Cornhuskers.

27th & Cornhusker To Get Signal During Fair

The state highway department announced Wednesday it would install temporary traffic signals at the intersection of 27th St. and Cornhusker Highway in North Lincoln to aid the traffic flow created by the State Fair, which begins Saturday.

The signals will be removed after the fair, but department officials said that improvements are scheduled at the intersection for later in the year.
